LEO M. FRANK INDICTED FOR MURDER OF GIRL, NO ACTION AGAINST LEE; NEGRO SWEARS FRANK ASKED HIM TO WRITE CERTAIN NOTES ON FRIDAY; WOODWARD SOUGHT EVIDENCE AGAINST BOTH CHIEFS, SAYS DICTOGRAPH

He Thinks These Notes Are the Same as Those Found by the Body of the Murdered Girl, but Had Not Seen the Original Notes When He Made His Sensational Statement to the Detectives Saturday Morning

NEGRO STUCK TO HIS STORY THROUGH GRUELLING EXAMINATION IN SOLICITOR'S OFFICE SATURDAY

Conley Voluntarily Sent for Detectives to Make His Statement, It Is Declared – He Told the Detectives That He Wanted to Confess the Whole Truth, That Frank Called Him Into His Ofice and Told Him He Wanted to See His Writing

Saturday morning James Conley, the negro sweeper formerly employed in the pencil factory where Mary Phagan was killed, and who was arrested on suspicion and has been held in jail since as a material witness for the state, sent for Detective John Black and declared that he wanted to tell the truth.

"Boss, I wrote those notes," said he, referring to the mysterious notes found beside the dead body of Mary Phagan.

He declared that he could not identify them positively, inasmuch as he had never seen the originals, but that as they were read to him out of the papers he believed they were the ones he wrote.

On Friday, the day before the murder, said he to detectives, Leo M. Frank called him into his (Frank's) office at the factory and said he wanted to get some samples o fhis handwriting, and dictated for him to write—dictating, said the negro, what he remembered as substantially the notes that afterward were read to him out of the newspapers.

The negro was taken immediately to the courthouse.

Conley was arrested during the coroner's inquest, when some one saw him washing a shirt at the factory. His defense was that it was his sole and only shirt, and that he was washing it so that he would appear clean at the inquest, whither he had been summoned as a possible witness.

HERE IS NEGRO'S AFFIDAVIT.

STATE OF GEORGIA:
COUNTY OF FUTON:

Personally appeared before the undersigned, a Notary Public in and for the above State and County, James Connally, who, being sworn on oath says:

On Friday evening before the Holiday, about four minutes to 1 o'clock, Mr. Frank come up the isle and asked me to come to his office. That was the isle on the fourth floor where I was working, and when I went down to the office he asked me could I write and I told him yes I could write a little bit, and he give me a scratch pad and told me what to put on it, and told me to put on there, "dear mother, a long tall black negro did this by himself," and he told me to write ot two or three times on there. I wrote it on a white scratch pad, single ruled. He went to his desk and pulled out another scratch pad, a brown looking scratch pad, and looked at my writing and wrote on that himself, but when I went to his office he asked me if I wanted a cigarette and I told him yes but they didn't allow any smoking in the factory, and he pulled out a box of cigarettes that cost 15c a box, and in that box he had $2.50, two paper dollars and two quarters, and I taken one of the cigarettes and handed him the box back and he told me that was all right I could keep the box, and I told him he had some money in the box, and he said that was all right I was welcome to that for I was a good working negro around there, and then he asked me

"WE HAVE ENOUGH VOTES IF WE GET THE EVIDENCE," THE MAYOR IS QUOTED BY THE DICTOGRAPH

The Journal Is Presenting Below the Complete Stenographic Report of the Interview in the Williams House, in Which Mayor Woodward, E. O. Miles, G. C. Febuary and A. S. Colyar Took Part, While the Dictograph Recorded the Conversation

THAT Mayor James G. Woodward was dictographed by the city detectives on Wednesday afternoon, shortly after Colonel Thomas B. Felder had concluded his interview in Room 31 of Williams House No. 2, 34-36 North Forsyth street, was made public Saturday morning by Chief of Detectives N. A. Lanford.

The Atlanta Journal presents below the complete stenographic report of the conversation imputed to Mayor Woodward by the dictograph. The report also gives in detail the statements accredited to E. O. Miles, the private detective present while the dictograph was at work. Only one or two unprintable words have been omitted from the sworn record which The Journal has secured.

The feature of the interview accredited to Mayor Woodward by the dictograph is the statement by him that he was looking for evidence against the police department and particularly against Chief of Police James L. Beavers. The mayor is also quoted as saying that there were enough votes in the police board to remove Chief Beavers if they could get the evidence.

The sworn statement of Stenographer George M. Gentry, detailing the alleged dictographed conversation in which the mayor figured is given below.

The following statements were overheard by me, by using a dictograph, located in room 32, of the Williams House No. 2, 34-36 North Forsyth street, Atlanta, Ga., said dictograph being connected with room No. 31 of the said hotel, and I saw Mr. E. O. Miles, whom I am personally acquainted with, Mr. G. C. Febuary, whom I have known for several years, and Mr. A. S. Colyar, with whom I have only been acquainted a short time, enter room No. 31 of said hotel, at about 4 o'clock on the afternoon of May 21, 1913.

On account of Mr. Febuary having locked the door to room No. 32, I was delayed in getting in, after having witnessed the three parties above mentioned enter room No. 31 of said hotel. In the emergency I used the key to my front door, which with a little difficulty opened the door. After closing the door and going to the instrument I was unable to hear what was being said, very distinctly on account of the windows of the said room being open. This necessitated another delay to close them, and after returning to my instrument I was able to hear the following. Several dashes indicate that the voice, just at that point, became inaudible.

Febuary: I can tell you some things. I am secretary to Lanford.

Miles: Now just wait a minute. I know —. I have got several cases —.

Colyar: (Question incoherent.)

Miles: I am satisfied you ought, but you know when they go into it they are going to put up a howl.

Colyar: (Conversation too low to catch.)

Miles: The mayor will give us absolute assurance that he will protect us.

Colyar: Will you bring the mayor up here? Right now?

Colyar: You are not a Jew are you?

Miles: No I am not. I spell my name M-i-l-e-s.

Colyar: These sons of a gun down here can frame up anything on Decatur street. I told Felder I would get the goods and go outside of the county and I would meet you and him at East Lake.

Miles: There is no occasion for your leaving town.

COLYAR AFRAID TO REMAIN IN TOWN.

Febuary: If the mayor and Felder will stay behind us like they said they would.

Colyar: I would like to have the mayor's assurance.

Miles: But right now he may be busy. Felder can get — Mr. Felder is a good bull. Now, it will take about ten minutes in any

"DIRTY GANG" FILLED OUT RECORD OR ELSE "FOOLED DICTOGRAPH"

—MAYOR WOODWARD.

"WHOLE THING AMOUNTS TO HIRING DETECTIVE"

"It's all a frame-up of a dirty gang," declared Mayor James G. Woodward, in commenting Saturday afternoon on the published dictograph record of the conversation alleged to have been held between him, A. S. Colyar, G. C. Febuary and E. O. Miles in Room 31 of the Williams house, No. 2, on Wednesday afternoon.

"The dictograph record has been filled out by some one," he declared. "I don't know who. Some one either filled it out of fooled the dictograph after I left."

Part of the record—almost all the first half of it—was correct, the mayor said. The rest was untrue, he vowed.

"The whole business amounted to employing a detective," he said. "Certainly I would vote to protect any one who unearthed graft. Certainly I would.

"While there is nothing in this published record, what there is is mostly incorrect. I'm willing to admit anything I said. The record has certainly been filled out after 'they' got hold of it.

"I didn't mention anything about Dozier deserting Beavers. In fact, I didn't even know he'd ever been with Beavers. I didn't say anything about any members of the police board. Call it 'protection' to Febuary if he unearths graft if you want to. I'd vote to protect any one unearthing graft.

"They told me they could furnish evidence that disorderly houses were protected. I wanted to get it."

Mayor Woodward declared that the entire portion of the dictograph record from the sub-head "Woodward Says There Is Evidence Against Beavers" had been either filled in or spoken by some one after he left "to fool the dictograph."

Mayor Woodward dictated the following statement to a reporter for The Journal before reading the dictograph report:

"I want to make it plain that every statement or report, coming from whatever source, connecting me with the Phagan case, is absolutely untrue and unfounded. My only connection with this case was to call the general council in special session to offer a tnousand dollars reward for the apprehension and conviction of the guilty party.

"All I had to do with this alleged attempt to obtain papers from the detectives was that a report came to me that there was evidence that there was graft in the police department as regards disorderly houses and blind tigers. This report was to the effect that lawbreakers were paying for protection. I was informed that a list was kept of all such places and the amount of protection money paid by each.

"Colyar and his crowd wanted $1,000 for this information. I told them I had no $1,000 to give, but I felt sure if they could produce the evidence that would bring about convictions they would be paid for their trouble.

"I didn't tell them so, but I will say so now, that I would be willing to contribute to a fund to defray the expenses of an investigation of all the graft charges that are rife in this city."

Anticipating the possibility that they, too, like Col. Thomas B. Felder, might

LEO. M. FRANK IS INDICTED BY GRAND JURY FOR MARY PHAGAN'S DEATH; NEGRO, NEWT LEE HELD

True Bill Against Pencil Factory Superintendent Returned Less Than Ten Minutes After Evidence Was Closed, at Noon, Saturday – Authority Quoted That He Will Be Tried During Third Week in June–Negro to Stay in Jail

SOLICITOR DORSEY DID NOT ASK JURY TO ACT ON BILL PENDING AGAINST NIGHT-WATCHMAN

Grand Jury's Session Began Friday Morning – Many Witnesses Examined, but Not All That Solicitor Has Were Introduced Into Grand Jury Room–Charge Is That Frank Killed Mary Phagan by Choking Her With a Cord That He Tied

Leo M. Frank, superintendent of the National Pencil factory in the basement of which the slain body of Mary Phagan was found in the early morning of Sunday, April 27, stands formally charged with her death.

A grand jury indictment, a true bill charging that he killed Mary Phagan, was returned by the Fulton county grand jurors at 12:23 Saturday afternoon.

Less than ten minutes earlier the jury had gone into executive session and Solicitor Dorsey, who had been conducting the examination of witnesses, had left the room. In the interval the jury reached its verdict and each of the jurors signed his name to the formal document upon which Frank will be arraigned on the charge of murder.

NO ACTION AGAINST NEWT LEE.

No action was taken with regard to the negro night watchman, Newt Lee, held by the coroner on a "suspicion" warrant for the grand jury.

Mr. Dorsey stated afterward that he had not asked the grand jury to take action with regard to Lee. It is probable, seemingly, that the grand jury will not return a "true" or "no" bill in Lee's case until after the trial of Superintendent Frank.

Lee, therefore, will remain in jail meanwhile, with the charge holding him there as a suspect.

It is assumed with the best of authority that the indicted man, Leo M. Frank, will be put on trial during the third week in June, less than a month hence.

It is known that several witnesses whom the state has secured to substantiate its charge, were not introduced before the grand jury by Solicitor Dorsey.

The jury's true bill charges formally, in legal phrase, that "Leo M. Frank did murder, in that in the county aforesaid (Fulton), state of Georgia, on the 26th day of April, in the year of our Lord 1913, with force of arms he did unlawfully and with malice aforethought kill and murder one Mary Phagan by then and there choking her, said Mary Phagan, with a cord that he placed around her neck."

Neither the negro nor Frank appeared before the grand jury. Both remained in the Tower, where they have been confined since the coroner's inquest ordered them to be held.

INQUIRY RESUMED

The Fulton county grand jury began its second day's probe of the murder of Mary Phagan at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, taking up the cases of Leo M. Frank and Newt Lee, held at the instigation of the coroner's jury.

Indications were that the case would be concluded during the day.

Each of the twenty-one grand jurors who were present Friday was on hand when the probe was resumed and in addition George A. Gershon, who had returned from New York. Victor H. Kriegshaber was excused temporarily.

The first witness was Miss Grace Hix, who worked side by side with Mary Phagan at the pencil factory. Miss Hix

OFFICER ARRESTED MAN WHO ASKED DIRECTIONS

Then Chief of Police Beavers Suspended J. C. Askew for Being Drunk on Duty

Policeman J. C. Askew, a member of the city force, was suspended by order of Chief Beavers Friday afternoon, and the chief announced that he would prefer charges against the patrolman for being drunk on duty.

According to evidence brought before the chief, Roy N. Spence, eighteen years old, of Cave Springs, arrived at the Terminal station shortly after noon and inquired of Officer Askew for direction to the corner of Whitehall and Marietta streets (Five Points). Officer Askew replied with a number of questions as to the young man's identity, where he came from, etc., while a crowd collected. Finally the officer stated, "Well, I'm going to send you down to headquarters," and called a patrol wagon. But when the patrol wagon arrived, the policemen in charge of it took their brother officer also in tow, and conducted him before the chief. A full quart bottle of corn whisky was taken from Policeman Askew at headquarters.

"It wasn't this, but another like it, that caused the trouble," said the chief.

The young man from Cave Springs was given directions to Five Points and was released.

A delegation of some twenty or more citizens appeared at headquarters to protest against the arrest of the visitor.

TWO WOMEN SAVED FROM OPERATIONS

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Their Own Stories Here Told.

Beatrice, Neb.—"Just after my marriage my left side began to pain me and the pain got so severe at times that I suffered terribly with it. I visited three doctors and each one wanted to operate on me but I would not consent to an operation. I heard of the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was doing for others and I used several bottles of it with the result that I haven't been bothered with my side since then. I am in good health and I have two little girls."—Mrs. R. B. CHILD, Beatrice, Neb.

The Other Case.

Cary, Maine.—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation, but my husband thought I had better write to you and I did so, stating my symptoms. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Cary, Maine.

QUAKERS APPLAUD OLD GUARD IN BIG PARADE

Atlanta Boys of '79 Receive Ovation at State Fencibles' Centennial

BY LUCIUS J. HARRIS, JR.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 24.—Atlanta would have been proud of her old guard had she been permitted to see her boys in the five-mile march of the centennial parade of State Fencibles.

The riot of color in this parade was little in comparison to the manifest interest of the old Gate City Guard of Atlanta, and the applause they received all along the line of march.

As the Old Guard passed the reviewing stand they were greeted as the boys of '79.

Among them were companies that were organized 275 years ago, and with the single exception, the youngest of them, participated in the Civil war, and without a single exception each command fought under the Stars and Stripes in the Spanish-American war.

The individual uniform of the various commands made a striking contrast with the full regiment of Pennsylvania guards who were garbed in a full war equipment and service uniform. At 8 o'clock last night the visiting commands reported to the Bellevue Stratford hotel, where a delightful course dinner followed by speeches, of which one by Colonel J. P. Burke, commander of the Old Guard of Atlanta, was received under deafening applause.

Colonel Burke's speech was mingled with the delightful reminiscences of '79, and his eloquent words of appreciation of the courteous hospitality shown his command upon the occasion as well in the days of long ago, made his audience feel that there is indeed no north, no south.

After these speeches, we were delightfully entertained by high-class vaudeville from Keith's circuit.

On Saturday morning an automobile ride over the city was given the visitors. At 1 o'clock the Old Guard took the train for New York, where they are to be met and entertained by the Seventh regiment of New York and the Old Guard of that city.

SENATE HITS SNAG ON TARIFF QUESTION

Sub-Committees Will Not Be Ready to Report Early Next Week

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Senate finance subcommittees have struck snags that already assure delay in the program to hasten the tariff bill to consideration in the senate.

Chairman of the subcommittee said today that although no more manufacturers would be heard after Tuesday it would be impossible to have the schedules ready for the entire committee by the end of next week.

Some increases over Underwood rates in the cotton schedule are being contemplated by the subcommittees. It now seems unlikely that the Democratic caucus will be called until the week of June 8 and that may delay report of the bill to the senate until the middle of June.

HINDU BECOMES CITIZEN OF THE UNITED STATES

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24.—First naturalization papers have been granted by the United States district court to a Hindu, Delta Kumar, who is a native of India and a missionary. The applicant was informed yesterday that the government reserved the right to withhold final papers.

The recommendation of Chief Naturalization Examiner George A. Crutchfield that the papers be granted was based on a recent ruling of a federal court in Washington that a high caste Hindu was of aryan descent and eligible to citizenship.

$150,000 FOR THE DISCOVERY OF HOW TO USE A VEGETABLE

The discovery of how to use a vegetable in the right way has made for a young European singer a fortune. A few years ago it was unknown in America and now Waw-Waw is to be found in the principal hotels, railroads and homes in the country. The singer, who had suffered for years with severe indigestion, made the recipe to contain the vegetable, which had been mentioned to him by a celebrated French doctor as a marvelous digestive. The great cooks of Europe have pronounced Waw-Waw unequalled and the success of this sauce has been phenomenal. Add a little Waw-Waw to the cooking and in the soups, salads, with hot and cold meats and fish and notice how easily you digest anything and what a piquancy and delicious flavor it adds. A 25-cent bottle from your local grocer will convince you how much more you will enjoy your food and how very easily you can digest anything. Waw-Waw (an obsolete South American word for vegetable) is a vegetable sauce and guaranteed pure. It is unlike any other sauce, and although it resembles in flavor a Worcestershire, yet the ingredients used are quite different. Miss Lillian Russell (the beautiful actress), writes: "Waw-Waw is delicious. Added to soups, salads, meats and fish it is unequalled."

More than a few doses of Croxone are seldom required to relieve even the obstinate, long standing cases.

You will find Croxone entirely different from all other remedies. It is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. An original package costs but a trifle. All druggists are authorized to return the purchase price if Croxone fails to give the desired results the very first time.

WHY THE ANSWER BOOK HELPS YOU TO WIN A PRIZE

The Journal's Answer Book for use in this campaign is certainly going out fast these days, showing that most of the Journal readers appreciate its value to them in this delightful prize winning game. As the Answer Book gives them the right to ten answers using only one of each picture, none of the contestants using it are going to hold themselves down to ten answers as they don't have to figure on pictures and coupons at two cents each after they secure the Answer Book. The history of all Booklovers' Campaigns is that those using the Answer Book carry away practically all the big prizes. Those holding down to coupons and pictures alone stay down in the small prize class or are out of the winning entirely. As The Journal made the announcement of the Answer Book early in the game, none of its readers have purchased extra pictures and coupons, that is not more than one of each, so we look for practically every reader to use the Answer Book this time and exercise all their rights to extra answers. We want every one who will use their brain and follow our advice to win, and do not want any reader to submit one-fifth of their skill, thereby eliminating themselves entirely from the prize winning class. Do not worry about what other contestants might do in regard to the number of Answers they will submit, but make up your mind you are going to submit all likely answers up to the limit of ten on each title allowed to you by the rules of the Campaign. The list of prize winners will surely contain the names of those who will study out the pictures from all angles and then submit the full result of their skill and ingenuity and not one-fifth of it.

Then, when you have done your best and make up your mind that your name is going to appear with the fortunate 747 prize winners in this delightful Booklovers' Campaign.

THE JOURNAL'S BIG STORY OF DICTOGRAPH AND ALLEGED BRIBE HAS STIRRED THE WHOLE CITY

Chief Lanford Stated Saturday That Mayor Woodward, C. C. Jones and Others Were Also Dictographed on the Same Day That Col. Felder Was—The Complete Dictograph Record of These Conversations Appears in Today's Journal

"I HAVE DONE MY WORK," DECLARES CHIEF LANFORD, "IT IS NOW UP TO GRAND JURY FOR FURTHER ACTION"

The exclusive story in The Journal's home edition Friday afternoon, describing how the city detectives and their representatives dictographed Colonel Thomas B. Felder in an alleged offer of $1,000 for the theft of certain papers in the Phagan case from the safe of Detective Chief Newport A. Lanford, has created a sensation in Georgia, South Carolina, Tennessee and Alabama where Colonel Felder is well known.

Atlantians were "put on edge" by this story. Everywhere one turned Friday afternoon and evening he saw persons reading and commenting upon the story in The Journal.

Chief Lanford Saturday morning made it known that Mayor Woodward, Charlie C. Jones, E. O. Miles and others were also dictographed. The record of their conversations are given elsewhere in today's paper.

Chief Lanford did not discuss the substance of the mayor's dictographed conversation. He gave it as his opinion that the publication involving Colonel Felder would in no wise hamper or affect the work of the Burns detectives in their investigation of the Phagan murder mystery. The chief expressed his confidence in the integrity of the Burns men.

Late Friday evening Colonel Felder gave out an additional statement to that furnished The Journal during the afternoon. In this last statement he charged that the city detectives were destroying evidence against Leo M. Frank in the Phagan case; that the police department is vile and corrupt; that the heads of the police and detective departments are both guilty of gross immorality; that the police department is building up a graft protection system similar to that which has existed in New York.

Colonel Felder in this last statement brands A. S. Colyar, one of the several men who made affidavits charging him with attempted bribery, as being a liar, crook, scoundrel, blackmailer and forger.

A. S. Colyar Saturday morning gave out a statement replying to Colonel Felder's attack on him, in which he asserts that "those who live in glass houses should not throw stones."

"I have done my work," declared Chief Lanford Saturday morning. "It is now up to the grand jury to investigate this attempt to bribe Mr. Febuary, who is a sworn officer of the city of Atlanta and a sworn notary public of the state of Georgia. The facts in this case were made an open book by the story carried in Friday afternoon's Journal."

Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey gave out a long statement declaring there was no use for him to deny such remarks as are attributed to Colonel Felder and declaring that Colonel Felder never expressed to him any intention of taking steps to show graft or fraud on the part of the city police or detectives.

4. S. COLYAR MAKES REPLY TO STATEMENT OF COLONEL FELDER

To The Atlanta Journal:

"A drowning man will grasp at the last straw." Thomas B. Felder, who in his visions imagines that he controls the governor of the state, the governor-elect, the judge of the criminal court, the solicitor general and the mayor of the city of Atlanta, prints in the morning Constitution the first chapter of his obituary address to his farewell tour as a lawyer, politician and grafter.

The Colonel says he knew that I was a crook, a blackmailer and irresponsible, and yet the gentleman supposed to be as shrewd as the astute lawyer is given credit for, is willing to enter into a deal with me, crooked as he knew me to be, to pay one thousand dollars for the papers in the Phagan case.

As to charges in the front page of the Constitution (better known as the Morning Eye-opener) I will reply to those with the records of the institutions referred to as soon as they can be obtained. As to anything that Colonel Felder, the attorney of the whisky ring and his morning paper may say in regard to me, I wish to simply say that I am not perfect and have never claimed to be. I have made many mistakes in life "but people who live in glass houses should not throw stones." A blind man can see tactics that Colonel Felder and his friends are attempting to resort to. Evidently they think it is a question of veracity between G. C. Febuary, Colonel Felder and myself, but they don't know that I can be entirely eliminated from the matter and then produce five witnesses of unimpeachable character who will swear before any court in Georgia that Thomas B. Felder lawyer, gentleman and scholar, offered G. C. Febuary, secretary to the chief of detectives of the city of Atlanta, one thousand dollars to steal the papers in the Phagan case.

GRAFT AND CORRUPTION ARE CHARGED TO CITY DETECTIVES AND POLICE BY COL. T. B. FELDER

Attorney Who Was Dictographed by the Detectives Gives Out a Statement, Additional to the One He Made Friday Afternoon, in Which He Goes After Police and Detective Departments, and Intimates That More Is to Come in the Sunday Papers

SAYS DETECTIVES ARE DESTROYING EVIDENCE AGAINST FRANK IN THE PHAGAN MURDER CASE

Attorney Thomas B. Felder, who has been charged by city detectives with attempted bribery of Chief of Detectives Lanford's secretary, G. C. Febuary, has made a statement additional to one he made Friday afternoon before reading the dictograph records in The Journal.

The attorney's complete and detailed statement, in which he promises sensational exposures of the police, will be given the Sunday press, he says.

Colonel Felder asserts that the police department is corrupt and vile, and that Atlanta is fostering a system like that of New York.

"I had information," said Mr. Felder, "to the effect that the detectives have been destroying evidence against Leo M. Frank in the Phagan case.

"It was to obtain proof of this that I consented to visit A. S. Colyar's room at the Williams House on Wednesday afternoon.

"When I got there Colyar and Febuary claimed to have in their possession the police graft protection list. They also claimed to have affidavits showing the immorality of the two chiefs, Lanford and Beavers.

"They wanted me to buy these papers for $1,000, and I, of course, refused.

"They asked if I knew of any one, who would buy them. I told them that Mayor Woodward and Charles C. Jones, who were after the police officials, could raise a fund by public subscriptions to pay for the documents if they proved what Colyar and Febuary claimed them to be.

"I told Colyar that I would introduce him to the gentlemen named, but that I would have to warn them that he is a crook and to be careful in dealing with him. Then I departed. I didn't remain in the Williams House room for more than five minutes, and I do not believe they had a dictograph there. Dictographs are not sold or rented to crooks and blackmailers to be used in a blackmailing scheme like these men were trying to perpetrate on me."

HE ATTACKS COLYAR'S CHARACTER.

Colonel Felder pays his respects to A. S. Colyar:

"He is a crook and a scoundrel and a forger with a long criminal record," the attorney declared, "and I can get a thousand people, who will swear that they wouldn't believe him on oath.

"I had dealings with him during the dispensary investigation in South Carolina and I quickly learned that he was crooked and irresponsible. In fact he sent me a number of forged affidavits from South Carolina to be used against Governor Cole Blease. I made an investigation and found that the affiavits were forgeries and of course, I did not use them. I have retained several of these alleged affidavits, however, as specimens of this man Colyar's work."

Colonel Felder quickly found in his desk one of the affidavits which he said was a forgery, and with it he produced a number of letters from Colyar.

"As to the detectives," continued Colonel Felder, "I am going to show them up.

"Since the arrival of C. W. Tobie, the Burns expert, who is seeking to find and convict the murderer of poor little Mary Phagan, the detectives have continually blocked his path.

"They have seen many witnesses, telling them that the state's case is complete, and that the state already has all of the evidence it needs. They then tell the witnesses that the Burns people and I are really trying to shield Frank, and then the detectives ask each witness to refuse to talk with the Burns men.

"WILL EXPOSE CHIEF LANFORD."

"Chief Lanford has been working in many ways to thwart justice, and I determined to expose him and his malpractice. He learned of my determination in some way, and knowing that his neck was in jeopardy, he set about to save his job and his reputation.

"He tried this. And what a miserably, stinking farce he has made of himself and his department.

"I am convinced that Lanford is in the employ of Frank," Mr. Felder declared.

"One of the several things, which convinced me is a purported confession extorted by the detectives from a poor negro named Connolly who has been kept in jail illegally for three weeks. Febuary declared that he had formulated the alleged confession himself and that while it was false it had been abstracted from the negro by the detectives."

Colonel Felder declares that he has never stated to the press that he was in the employ of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Coleman but has always said that he was retained to assist the state by friends and neighbors of the dead Phagan girl. He has now exhibited to newspaper men his contract.

His clients are A. C. McCall and G. H. Bradley, two citizens of the Bellwood district. His fee, which Colonel Felder has previously announced he could contribute to the Burns fund, is fixed at $500, he says.

TRUST COMPANY PROBE HALTED AUDITOR AT WORK

Upon an agreement reached by the attorneys of both sides in the case of the Guarantee Trust and Banking company, in which a suit for a receivership has been pending for several weeks, E. C. Metz, on Friday, was appointed by Judge John T. Pendleton to go over the books of the company and report back to the court within two weeks. In the meantime all action in the case is suspended.

A list of questions covering three typewritten pages was furnished to the auditor by the attorneys of both sides of the case. The auditor is requested to furnish answers after examining the records and papers of the company.

The court ordered also that particular inquiry be made into the affairs of the former organization known as the Guarantee Redemption company of which Sam E. Smith, president of the Guarantee Trust and Banking company, and H. S. Miles, of the same company, are interested. It was charged in the amendment to the present suit that this company organized in 1909 with a capital stock of $2,500, was transferred to the Guarantee Trust and Banking company for $224,000.

DISCUSS FUTURE OF W. & A. RAILROAD

A suggestion that a convention be called in Atlanta of representative southern business men to consider the future of the Western and Atlantic railroad was made Friday afternoon at a meeting of the W. and A. railroad committee at the chamber of commerce.

The chairman, W. A. Wimbish, read a carefully prepared statement which showed that, while the lease of the road does not expire until 1919, yet it would be advisable to begin consideration of future action at once. Whether the road shall be released or taken over by the state; whether it shall be extended to the sea; whether it shall be leased for a long or short term; whether the terminal at Chattanooga shall be included in the lease; whether an offer shall be made for the A., B. and A. railroad—these were some of the problems presented in the chairman's statement.

The committee suggests that a convention be held soon to look into the matter more fully, and invites the cooperation of other commercial bodies in the south.

DORSEY STEERS CLEAR OF FELDER CONTROVERSY

Says He Will Not Allow Himself to Be Drawn Into Row of Attorney and Detectives

Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey said Saturday morning relative to the Felder affair:

"This controversy will have no bearing on the prosecution of any one who may be indicted in the Phagan case. I have no reasons to question the good faith and sincerity of Colonel Thomas B. Felder. Also, I am certain the city detectives are not 'double-crossing' or misleading me as has been suggested."

Mr. Dorsey would make no statement relative to the grand jury following Chief Lanford's suggestion that it was "up to them to act" in the Felder matter.

In the detective's dictagraph manuscript, which purports to record a conversation between Attorney Felder, A. S. Colyar and G. C. Febuary, in Williams House No. 2, Mr. Felder is quoted as saying he could "control," among other officials, the solicitor general.

"Why there is no use for me to deny any such remarks as those attributed to Colonel Felder, and I certainly do not wish to express my opinion in the matter. In fact, I know nothing whatever of the affair except what is generally known to the public.

"Colonel Felder never expressed to me any intention of taking steps to attempt to show graft or fraud on the part of the city police or detectives," replied the solicitor when asked if during his conferences in regard to the Phagan case, Colonel Felder had made any expression in regard to the present situation.

"The latest conference I had with Colonel Felder was when he came to my house last Sunday night to confer upon the Phagan case. As I announced publicly some time ago, I worked with him as I have done with others interested in probing the matter. I received what information I could from them, but kept my own theories and results of investigations to myself.

WAHL-HENIUS INSTITUTE
FERMENTOLOGY

Chicago

April 1, 1911.

Mr. Alfred Uihlein
Schlitz Brewing Co.
Milwaukee, Wis.

Dear Sir:

Answering your favor of recent date in regard to the influence of light on the quality of beer, will say that our observations, extending over the last twenty-five years, have convinced us beyond a doubt that exposure of beer to light has a very detrimental influence on its quality generally, but especially upon the flavor of the beer.

* * *

We have tested beers repeatedly in this direction placing the bottles into direct sunlight, and testing the same after one, two, three and five minutes exposure, found that the beer with three and five minutes exposure became undrinkable on account of the peculiar odor developed.

The detrimental effect of light upon beer can be successfully counteracted by the employment of brown or dark colored glass bottles, and such bottles are therefore recommendable.

* * *

Yours very truly,

RW/B

Wahl-Henius Institute

Extract from letter to Mr. Alfred Uihlein, written by Robert Wahl, President of the Wahl-Henius Institute of Fermentology, Inc., Chicago.

"Beer bottles should be manufactured from reddish-brown glass, inasmuch as same will to a much higher degree than any other kind of glass, minimize the influence of the rays of light on the quality of beer, and will protect the latter against acquiring the disagreeable taste (Sonnengeschmack) due to the chemical action of the light. **

"In white and green glass bottles the beer is most affected by the action of the light. Such bottles are, therefore, absolutely inappropriate and should never be employed by brewers." (Signed) Prof. Dr. F. Schonfeld.

From the Illustrated Brewery Encyclopedia, p. 99 (Illustriertes Brauer-lei Lexikon). Published by Dr. Max Delbruck, Privy Councillor, Professor at the Royal Agricultural College and Director of the Institute for Fermentology at Berlin. Berlin 1910.

"Bottles of strong glass should be selected. They should never be of colorless glass, inasmuch as through the influence of light the beer will not only take on a disagreeable odor and taste, but will also become turbid." (Lintner.)

Extract from Die Malz und Bierbrauung. Published by E. Leyser, Director of the Brewing Academy in Augsburg. Tenth Edition, Stuttgart. 1900, page 680.

"The beer in the white glass bottle had taken on disagreeable odor and taste and was absolutely undrinkable. The beer in the dark bottles did not show this peculiar odor and taste." (G. Beck.)

"It is interesting to note the observation that beer in colorless bottles exposed to diffused light will undergo a change, precipitating a heavy sediment and taking on a disagreeable odor and taste."

Extract from Die Theorie und Praxis der Malzbereitung Bierfabrikation. Published by Director Julius E. Thausing, Leipzig, 1893. Fourth Edition, page 920.

"It is a known fact that sunlight and daylight influence unfavorably the taste and flavor of the beer and care must be exercised in the selection of the bottles."

COVERING AND RENEWED SUPPORT CAUSED ADVANCE

Market in New York Closed 1 to 6 Pts, Higher Than the Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 24.—Cotton opened steady at an advance of 4@8 points on higher cables than expected, rumors that the National Ginners' association made the end-May condition 79.8 per cent, against the official ten-year average of 79.9 per cent and rather an unfavorable review of conditions in Georgia and Alabama by one of the authorities. Reports of a more active trade in cotton goods helped the advance and there was a better covering by some of yesterday's sellers for a reaction, but the market showed a great deal of long cotton and prices soon reacted with the trade nervous and unsettled during the early trading.

The market closed steady at a net advance of one to five points, or five to six points off from the best under realizing and a private crop report making the condition 85.1 per cent.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON OPPORTUNITY

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, May 24.—Cotton futures opened steady at an advance of 2@6 points on low temperatures in the cotton belt. To some extent, cold weather was balanced by reports of rains in the Atlantic where they were most needed, but much bullish sentiment was aroused by the fact that slight temperatures over a larger part of the belt were around and even under 50 degrees, portions of Alabama even reporting 48. There were not disposed to press their advantage in the early trading probably because of the week-end and first prices were the highest. At the end of the first half hour of business the most active months were 4 points above yesterday's close.

Toward the middle of the morning the market did better for a while on an increased demand that seemed to come from the bear side and prices went six to nine points over yesterday's level. The tone was none too good, however, and ring traders took the short side for a turn. These offerings and continued selling for long account were met by good buying and finally put prices down until they were two to three points compared with yesterday's last quotations. The close was steady three up to three down net.

Norden & Co.: We favor purchases of new crop on moderate declines.

Logan & Bryan: We think sales on sharp bulges in new crop the best policy.

Sternberger, Sinn & Co.: We are friendly toward the long side on soft spots only.

Miller & Co.: We think prices will be measured by only the urgency of the bears.

Weather Reports, Crop Advices, Expert Opinions and Newspaper Comment

COTTON GOSSIP

Times-Democrat says: Bears made the most of the favorable weather and poor crop reports from Italy, and a relative increase as contrasted with last year, in the world's visible supply of cotton, and of American growth, 175c. Sale of between 5 and 9 points was the result of the day's trading in contrast to the bear American markets. This encouraged, bearish propagandists began talk of 10 cents for the new crop then 9 cents, and as nobody would argue the future of the market with them, 8 cents was finally reached. Later on, however, the market robbed the price prophets of an audience, otherwise, 7 and 6 cents might have been suggested. As matters stand, the crop outlook is probably improved, and the technical position should have been affected by the number of contracts covered during the past few days. For these reasons, covering over bulls are declined to see that the market is not now on the road toward materially higher prices. Weather so far this season and the trade is long in the new crop positions, current quarters taking any months' option in a very full scale, and the into-sight movement is small, all of which combined to make conservatism to some extent in the event good weather should rule.

Dow-Jones summary: London dispatch says Chinese National Railway corporation is trying to borrow $500,000,000 there to build ten thousand miles of railroad. Chief engineer asked permission to issue $3,637,000 fifty-year refunding bonds, to the Chinese Eastern. Ex-U. S. Minister to China, H. P. Davison criticises President Wilson and Bryan, declaring that policy is to act against financial interests of the country. He says the Chinese loan was politics to make administration look well with the people. Mr. Davison says there will be no trouble for Prisco to raise $2,250,000 to meet maturity notes June 1st. Washington says Secretary Redfield has will leave senate with duty on sugar of 70 to 80 cents, instead of proposed tax of 60 per cent instead of being on the free list as proposed. GRAIN GOSSIP

CHICAGO, May 24.—Inter Ocean says: It was the general belief of most traders last night that unless there is more serious crop damage to wheat than has been mentioned in the buying power, not only wheat but in corn and oats, there will be little encouragement for trade in all grains has been more evened up by the recent advance than at any time in months. Traders in all grains declared they had good profits on all grain have taken them. Some traders, however, declared they will not reinstated their lines on yesterday's bulge, thinking that the buying power was pretty well and they are not in a position to stand much loss.

Bartlett, Frazier & Co. say: Map shows light rains in northwest and generally fair over rest of the belt. Local rains are needed but farmers will take no big chances on either side of market over Sunday.

Corn—Market continues to show a very strong undertone.

Oats—We believe the long side of market on sharp reactions will prove safest.

Provisions—Are inclined to go higher.

Des Moines says: We cannot realize how much crops have suffered in other localities and states, but if the rains have not conserned, we feel that the oats acreage is about as large as last year, and that with a good season we are in best of condition and growth of small grain is very remarkable for this time of the year. We should have anything like reasonable and pleasant weather, farmers will finish corn planting very early and there will be no delay in the movement of corn and oats that will surprises you.

Some commission house buying of September wheat. Armour grain company buying July wheat. Cash local commission working the bear side for a turn.

H. W. Sears wires from Sedalia, Mo.: Central Missouri countries have had scattered, but insufficient rains. Wheat is heading out and the extra promise that characterized it early in the season, but with seasonable conditions hereafter the yield will be normal to large. Crop is heading in the river counties, but will not harvest until last week in June. Oats are irreparably damaged, mellow, thin, considerable may be plowed up practically in full. Not only the early sown is promising, average reduced. Corn still being planted and some replanting. Rain is needed to push the crop to work. The early planted is in good shape and is up with a good stand.

John Inglis wires from Arkansas city: Southwestern Missouri and southwestern Kansas crops promising; complete abandonment 7 of wheat in many years. Oats good, heading. Rain would benefit oats in this section, but nothing suffering.

CHARLIE C. JONES SHOWN BY DICTOGRAPH TO HAVE BEEN FOXY; DETECTIVE MILES TALKS FREELY

Proprietor of "Rex" Near-Beer Saloon and Private Sleuth Are Quoted as Having Negotiated With Febuary for Papers in Phagan Case – Jones Was Very Cautious in His Utterances

MILES WAS QUITE POSITIVE MAYOR WOODWARD WOULD SEE TO IT THAT FEBUARY WAS PROTECTED

Following the alleged dictographed conversations of Colonel Thomas B. Felder and Mayor Woodward Wednesday afternoon an engagement was made by A. S. Colyar for Charles C. Jones, proprietor of the "Rex" near-beer saloon, and E. O. Miles, a private detective, to meet G. C. Febuary, secretary to Chief of Detectives N. A. Lanford, in room No. 31 of Williams House No. 2, to further discuss the subject of extracting certain papers from the safe of the chief of detectives.

This alleged discussion was also dictographed, and from the dictograph record it appears that Jones was too foxy for the ingenious machine. He was apparently very guarded in his utterances, although he took occasion to attack Police Chief Beavers and Marion Jackson, of the Men and Religious Forward Movement, for their part in closing up the restricted district.

Miles was more frank in his conversation. The dictograph record quotes him as agreeing to meet Colyar and Febuary outside Fulton county for the transfer of the papers and assuring the latter that he would be protected by Mayor Woodward.

THE DICTOGRAPH RECORD.

The following conversation occurred in room No. 31 at Williams House, No. 2, 34-36 N. Forsyth street, Atlanta, Georgia, Wednesday evening between eight and nine o'clock, between C. C. Jones, E. O. Miles and A. S. Colyar:

Colyar: It has been very warm today, hasn't it?

Miles: Yes, it has. I asked Mr. Felder if you mentioned Mr. Jones' name to him and he said no.

Colyar: He told me Monday night that Mr. Jones was a friend of his and he thought it an outrage the way they had done him.

Miles: You know I asked you this afternoon why you wanted to see Mr. Jones.

Colyar: If you don't want to talk, that's all right.

Jones: In what way.

Jones: Yes. They closed up the houses I had. I had a lot of property.

Colyar: He told me they framed up on you.

Jones: There is no doubt but what it was a frame up.

Colyar: Tom told me he would like to see the gang put out of business.

Jones: The record now is (voice very indistinct just then). They never grafted me. Wouldn't be any use for me to give them any money.

Miles: You told me you wanted to see Jones. It is not a question of lack of confidence, as what I told you was true as far as I know, but if he knows anything at all about it, I don't know just what it is.

Jones: I don't know anything. I just told them to go ahead and build them houses and move them across the street. Even some of them went over there and picked out the spot. I built the houses put the money in and paid for them. Three or four days before they closed the houses the chief of the city of Atlanta ——— that it would never do to close this district and I was surprised one morning by a telephone message from someone at No. 18 that the chief had given five or six days' notice to get out, I don't remember which, and I never even went to the trouble to go to this man to ask him what he meant, as I could not figure it out to save my life what he meant. That is all that I know of. I found out what he was doing. I understand that Jackson was holding convrsations with him anywhere from one to three times a day.

Colyar: Who is Jackson?

WHAT JONES IS QUOTED AS SAYING CONCERNING MARION JACKSON

Jones: Jackson is the man that owns the biggest house in Atlanta now ——— and the chief was there and wanted to know what he had done about the license of the hotel, and the chief ———, ——— The people owe him $500 a month each. I understand he opened.

Colyar: Who is John Eagan?

Colyar: They certainly must have some kind of a pull.

Jones: They got something, I don't know what it is.

Colyar: What does Jackson do?

Jones: Jackson runs them religious bulletins. I know them to be the fact, for he owns this place and on one occasin after he told someone I made a remark to a man that was very close to him. I told him that he had better close his own mouth. To be exact, he owns the Empire hotel. The man that was running the hotel had an engagement to introduce me to this man. John Dawson told me that he had just had the hotel for three or four months and that he had cleaned the hotel out, and I looked at him and said "Yes, you cleaned it out, no doubt of that, but you run it different from what other people run it. The man went to one room and the woman to the other, with a door opening between it." So I will be frank with you, if I had anything that would convict Mr. Beavers, I would tell it on the public streets. I think he is everything in the world but a man, I will be frank with you about that. If he takes my dollar and then goes to the other fellow and takes his dollar, he would tell me to go to hell, but, of course, I used to be a gambler, I run the Rex, and everybody knows it. I wouldn't trust Beavers as far as I could throw ———.

Colyar: I want to talk to your about ———.

Jones: I am going to handle ———. I don't know whether ———

Colyar: Well we can make it. I will show you something.

Jones: I don't think it is going to ———. As far as my own knowledge is concerned, I have never been able to, well I haven't tried to. Well, as I haven't slept much lately, I think I will go. Well, I will see you tomorrow.

Miles: Well, I am much obliged to you for coming in.

Jones: Well try and get here between ten and eleven. Will that suit you? I am glad to have met you. Good night.

Colyar: Have you seen Felder since you saw me?

Miles: Yes.

Colyar: What did he say about going out of town?

Miles: Will he go.

Colyar: Well, we will get the papers.

Miles: I told him that was reasonable.

Colyar: Then I will get the papers at 2:30 tomorrow. What time will you get it in the morning?

Miles: I will get in at 8:30 tomorrow, and I have an appointment.

Colyar: I think it is best to go out there.

Colyar: Call me up at 2401 Atlanta phone at the hotel, at 1 o'clock. I won't have anything to do with the transfer of them in Fulton county. As long as he ———

SAYS FELDER "BULLED" MORSE OUT OF FEDERAL PENITENTIARY

Miles: Yes, it makes a great deal more ———. He can bull a Morse out. I think he owes him most of it.

Colyar: What was his fee?

Miles: A hundred thousand dollars.

Colyar: How much did he get?

Miles: Oh! absolutely ———

Colyar: How long have you known Felder?

Miles: I have known him twenty-five years personally.

Colyar: (Question incoherent.)

Miles: Did you not hear him commit himself.

Colyar: (Answer incoherent.) Now listen here, this boy needs protection. Will you do all in your power to see that he gets protection? Will you promise not to use it in any way as to jeopardize his position in any way?

Miles: ——— and I believe he would, because I have seen him tried. I have been through all his campaigns with him, and I have never known him to go back on his word. I can't convince my mind that the young man won't balk. He is liable to lose his nerve. He seems nervous and afraid.

Colyar: No he won't balk, he is just timid.

Miles: In dealing with a rattlesnake I never think about (dictaphone not clear.) Do you?

Colyar: No.

Miles: I presume every man has his own code of honor, and mine is if the right is figured in the wrong, that the right needn't hurt you. I don't mean to call him a rattlesnake, as I don't know anything against him. By that respect I had in mind the general corruption in that department down there.

Colyar: He goes down there and gets the papers and brings them out there and they are the papers that you and Felder want and they would know that nobody could get them but Lanford and him and Lanford would say he didn't get them and they would know Febuary got them and would fire him right away. Now, how is the mayor going to put him back.

Miles: If they are the documents of the nature he understands they are, there will be another chief in his office. They would put him back for the very reason it would insure a straight administration of the next chief.

Colyar: Will you call me in the morning at ten o'clock?

Miles: I will call you at ten o'clock.

Colyar: We will make Tom spend his money now?

Miles: Yes. You don't want to give the mayor any list of these things?

Colyar: I thought you wanted the papers.

Miles: I don't want them.

Colyar: Tom does. He can tell about the papers whether they are what he wants.

Miles— We agree with the mayor that we get this list.

Colyar: Tom said that the papers ———

Miles: Between you and Tom we have nothing to do with it. If you are going to sell them to him we will drop out of it. You say you will see the mayor?

Colyar: I will see him tomorrow.

Miles: Good night.

Colyar: Good night.

case, but he may be busy. I will bring him, if he can possibly get here. I mean Woodward.

(In a few minutes Miles returned.)

Miles: He was up to the city hall. He will be over in a few minutes he said:

Colyar: Where is your residence, Mr. Miles?

Miles: In Decatur. I used to live at Smyrna.

(Conversation here became inaudible for a short time on account of scraping of feet upon the floor, chairs, etc., which drowned the sound through the instrument.)

Miles: If you will excuse me I will take off my coat. It is very warm.

Colyar and Febuary: Certainly.

Colyar: Mr. Febuary, step down stairs and get the pitcher and bring it up here full of ice water.

(Mr. Febuary was evidently the one addressed, as someone went out and the conversation continued between Mr. Miles and Mr. Colyar.)

Miles: We will have that fixed. If we have got the goods on these detectives, their sphere of work will be over. It will only take three or four days ———.

Colyar: Well, what do you think of this Phagan murder?

Miles: I think it was the most damnable job. They telephoned Craig, the Constitution man, to come and go with them.

Colyar: Do you believe Frank murdered that girl?

Miles: I never have believed it. It looks a great deal more like he did, than it did before, from the affidavits. Also there is going to be pretty strong evidence that the girl was not assaulted.

(Conversation became very indistinct for a few minutes.)

CASE WAS HANDLED BADLY.

Miles: I think the whole thing was handled badly, to my mind I am satisfied. They had an extra on the street at 6:30. They should have never allowed all the persons they did on the premises. Just after the murder there were only a few scents and tracks, and the man who did the murder could have easily been tracked, as no one else had been there but the negro and his track could have been very easily eliminated.

Colyar: Yes. That is right. It looks to me like they would have known better.

Miles: They should have looked for footprints and fingerprints. Instead of that they had over five hundred finger prints—— (Conversation interrupted by knock at door.)

(A moment or so later Mayor Woodward entered the room.)

Miles, Colyar and Febuary: (Almost simultaneously) Well, how are you, Mr. Mayor.

After the general conversation of all had subsided I was able to distinguish Mr. Miles' voice.

Miles: I really don't know it well enough—this is the first conference I have had.

Colyar: Well, Tom Felder told me that the mayor wanted some evidence on these fellows down here at the city hall, Decatur street, the station house, and here's a man that works down there. He got disgusted doing three men's work. He can get the evidence for you, but he wants no one to know it. There are some terrible framers down there.

Miles: He is afraid they will throw him in jail, after they find it out.

Woodward: How can they throw him in jail?

Colyar: They can get a chance against anybody and throw him in jail. You don't know them like some other people do.

Mayor Woodward: What is the nature of the evidence he can get?

Colyar: Well, if he was to get the evidence that Mr. Felder wants, it would do the work, which I understand is what you want.

Mayor Woodward: All I want to —— (voice too low and indistinct).

Colyar: They would throw him out of his job and put him in jail.

Mayor Woodward: I don't see how they could do it.

Miles: I don't—unless there are no sane people in the city any more.

Colyar: Well, you know they said they were going to close up the Red Light ———

Mayor Woodward: Well, they have got nothing to fear.

SAID MAYOR WAS HARD TO SEE.

Colyar: I went up to your office to see you, and I found it was harder to get in your office than when I was a newspaper reporter at the White House.

Woodward: Well, my secretary came in and I told him to tell them I would see you just as soon as I possibly could.

Colyar: But he said you couldn't see me until tomorrow.

Woodward: The reason I said that was because he said you said you were in a hurry, and I said tell him to come back tomorrow. If you could have waited there a few minutes you would have had no trouble. You said you were in a hurry and had some business to attend to, but I could not tell the other people to get out of the office.

Colyar: There wasn't anybody else in your office.

Woodward: Well, the secretary or somebody was. Oh! I had to sign up a lot of checks that had to go in before the bank closed.

Colyar: I have always heard you were a plain old politician.

Mayor Woodward: It is just my natural way.

Colyar: Well, this is the man that can drive the evidence down at headquarters that you want, but he is afraid to.

Colyar: You don't know what the police persecution is. They can prove that black is white and water will run up stream, and they can get a jury that will play to them.

Miles: I take this view of it. It will only be —— with the police force to be —— until they won't be in position to get any one into trouble ———

Colyar: They tell me they got a majority in the board.

Miles: No, sir; I don't believe it.

Woodward: Dozier, I am told has deserted Beavers.

Colyar: How many votes will it take to remove him.

Woodward: A majority.

Colyar: How many are on the Board?

Woodward: Twelve.

Colyar: You have a vote in case of a tie?

Woodward: I have a vote anyhow.

Miles: He is a member ex-officio.

Woodward: I vote all the time.

Febuary: Yes, sir.

FEBUARY PROMISED PROTECTION.

Miles: Febuary wants to know if we can promise him protection. I think we can safely do it in a matter of right, like this.

Woodward: Yes.

Miles: He has the graft list and knows who's on the list, who's to be protected and who's not to be protected. It looks to me like we have the same thing down there that they had in New York, only on a smaller scale, because Atlanta is a smaller town.

Colyar: Did you tell Tom Felder that you authorized Felder that if he got the proof for you, you would see that he got paid for it?

Woodward: I told Felder that on matters of this kind . . . and he has a good deal to say, and I told him that I am satisfied that certain parties would be willing to pay the money for him, and if he got the evidence that would convict those people it would be paid, and it will be; there is no question about that.

Colyar: He said he would give him a thousand dollars for the evidence.

Miles: Felder said to me that Febuary said that that was the price.

Febuary: Felder said that he would pay it to us, but he would have to see the papers. He said he would give me one thousand dollars.

Miles: He didn't say that anybody had authorized him to do it. He just said he would get it up.

Woodward: I don't know whether he had reference—— as to whether he could raise the money or not, but if he did, he knows that I have not authorized him to do anything of that kind.

Miles: What would be the nature of those documents?

Colyar: It is an affidavit from two people, both signed it, acknowledging threats, etc., graft an general corruption. Like you said awhile ago.

Miles: There is no trouble to show the graft?

Febuary: (Reply inaudible.)

Miles: ——a place like the —— inn has never been closed.

Febuary: I don't know just about that one.

Miles: Now my information is that the woman who runs it is a sister-in-law of an official in the police department. A woman gave me that information and said that she was operating under protection, and there certainly is a half dozen hacks around there at one o'clock at night, automobiles and couples going in and out.

NO TROUBLE TO GET THE MONEY.

Woodward: There will be no trouble about getting the money.

Miles: Yes, but ..... They might get the council in their favor at some later date. ..... Of course, somebody would have to advance it now.

Woodward: Yes, I know it.

Miles: Isn't there another stenographer that works down there?

Febuary: Yes: There is a man down there in chief of police's office. He works at night. He goes on about 4.

Miles: If they want anything after you go off, they get him to do it?

Febuary: (Reply indistinct.)

Miles: You keep all the records of that department?

Febuary: Yes. For Langford.

..... (Traffic noise interferred with sound.)

Colyar: Only two men can get the evidence, Febuary and Chief Lanford. ..... They have got him doing three men's work. They make him do the work of the judge down there. .....

Miles: Well, Mr. Woodward, suppose we leave!

Woodward: I would like to have some kind of an idea or statement of what ..... so as to know what .....

Miles: Yes, that is, something specific.

Woodward: I don't know what to do.

Febuary: Well, I will have to go through these papers and see what I can get.

Woodward: Get anything that looks like graft. I don't care who it hits, and especially Beavers.

Febuary: Well, I will have to go through these papers and see what I can get.

Woodward: We are going to get up the money to pay for it. They'll want to know what you have got and what you can prove. Then I can give him an answer. Are you a stenographer?

Woodward: What do they pay you?

Febuary: One hundred dollars. I am clerk of the detective office, and I spend a great deal of my time in working for Judge Broyles, which makes one man working in two different departments.

Miles: Are you married?

Febuary: Yes, sir.

Miles: (excessive noise rendered conversation inaudible.)

Woodward: I won't do anything until it is substantiated.

Miles: Yes. Just forget it. You know you have never broken your word yet.

Woodward: I heard they charged me with some meanness.

Miles: I think that is a great compliment.

Woodward: I heard they said something of that kind down there.

Miles: That would tickle me to death if some woman would say that to me.

Woodward: The woman, I understood, said she would not get on the stand and swear to it.

Colyar: Well, I understood that the woman said she did not know you.

(Noise interfered with sound over dictograph.)

Woodward: I have a lot of fellows to come up to me and say: "Is this Mayor Woodward? I have seen your picture" . . . . Oh, I don't know that it is true about me.

Miles: Personally (on account of Mr. Miles talking so low, was unable to understand him.)

WOODWARD SAYS THERE'S EVIDENCE AGAINST BEAVERS.

Woodward: Well, they have pretty good evidence on him.

Colyar: On who?

Woodward: Beavers.

Colyar: I know one of the vice commission leaders was put out of a hotel in Birmingham three years ago with a prominent man's wife. . . . .

Woodward: I tell you what to do. You get this stenographer up there and see what he can do. You needn't let me know about it; just tell Miles.

Colyar: How about Lanford?

Woodward: We want Beavers first, then Lanford.

Miles: I agree with you it is best that after we go into this and raise the money to pay for it, we go out of the county, and it will be turned over to be examined, to see that they are the papers, and then the money is to be turned over. Now, this list you speak of. If Febuary don't want it to go out in his own handwriting, I will take it and copy it in my own handwriting. And if he gets into trouble we will protect him. Still, in a thing like this I don't mind getting in trouble for the right. If he gets in jail I will promise that he will get out. . . . .

"I HAVE THE PARDON POWER."

Woodward: We have got lawyers here that will get you out pretty quick. And I have the pardon power still.

Miles: And when they see you have got them they are going to be mighty quick to quiet down.....Now suppose we arrange for another meeting. You set the hour and I will meet you at any time any place.

Febuary: Well we would better call you up.

Miles: I am so busy that I am not in my office very much, and you may not catch me.

Colyar: Can you meet me at eight o'clock tonight, here?

Miles: Yes. I can meet you here.

(At this juncture someone knocked on the door and told Mr. Colyar that he was wanted at the telephone. Mr. Colyar replied by saying he couldn't come as he was busy.)

Febuary: Well, we will call you up.

Colyar: He is coming here at eight o'clock tonight.....My number up here is Atlanta 'phone 2401.

Miles: Yes. I will call for you. Now that is tonight?

Colyar: Yes.

Miles: I will be here at eight o'clock. That is all right?

Woodward: I am satisfied that if we can establish.....Do you understand this much, that we have got something (voice too low and indistinct to hear).

Miles: Yes. It has got to be positive.

Colyar: Want a match?

Miles: I got one. Well, Good luck.

Woodward: (Voice too low to hear).

Colyar: They will frame up on anybody that you report.

Woodward: (Talked very low and indistinct).

Colyar: What protection have we got?

"GET A LIST OF THE PAPERS"

Woodward: Well I don't think there will be any trouble at all.....We could get together and establish....There is something wrong. It is simply s.....Now Mr. Febuary you get a list of the papers you can furnish me against those men and give them to me or Miles and then we will know how to talk with you. As it is we don't know whether you can get anything or not.

Colyar: What do you think of the Phagan case?

Woodward: Phagan case? I think it has been mighty mussed up. The only thing I know on that subject is what I see in the paper, and they have very little in connection with it. (Balance inaudible.)

Colyar: Tom Felder talks too much.

Woodward: I think so too. I don't know what he said on the outside, but he talked some to me, not a great deal, I didn't see him five minutes. I only had a very few words.....Well, I will see you again.

Colyar and Febuary: Well, Good-bye, Mayor.

have been "dictographed" Wednesday in room 31 of Williams House No. 2, Mayor James G. Woodward and Charles C. Jones, of 127 North Pryor street, issued their versions of what transpired while each of them was in the room.

Mayor Woodward was in room 31 during the afternoon, he says, with A. S. Colyar, Edward Miles and Secretary G. C. Febuary of the city detective department. He went there, he says, on the invitation of Miles, to examine affidavits which Colyar claimed to have and which were said to charge graft in the police department.

Charles C. Jones went to the room in the evening, he says—he is not sure what day—also on the invitation of Miles, who said that Colyar wanted to show him some affidavits.

NOTHING TO FEAR.

Mr. Jones and the mayor say they have nothing to fear from the publicity of a dictograph record, if one was taken.

The mayor declares that an attempt was made by Colyar to induce him to agree to pay $1,000 for certain alleged documentary evidence that would convict the heads of the police department of corruption in receiving money for the protection of disorderly houses.

Mayor Woodward says that he declared he had no money to give, but suggested that if a list of the available evidence was made out there would be no trouble in getting funds for a complete investigation.

The mayor says that Colyar left word at his office in the city hall one day last week that he had some important evidence he wanted to give him.

"I sent out word that if he could not wait to see me to fix a time when I could see him," Mr. Woodward said. "That was the last I saw or heard of him until Wednesday afternoon.

MR. WOODWARD'S ACCOUNT.

"I was sitting in my office in the Empire building Wednesday afternoon, when Ed Miles came to see me. He said that Colyar had sent him over to say that he had some affidavits to show that there was graft in the police department. He suggested that I go over to the Williams house with him and discuss the matter with Colyar.

"I remember that Secretary Febuary was in the room with Colyar when we entered. I am not absolutely certain, but it seems to me that Colyar stated the conversation by remarking that Febuary had turned up some affidavits against some one in the police department. He said that they showed that houses were paying for protection. I am not certain Colyar mentioned the name of Beavers or Lanford. I am not sure whether he mentioned either one, but I am sure he connected the police department with graft.

"Colyar said that Febuary had secured the evidence and that the only thing they were afraid of was that he would lose his job in the police department. I told Colyar that if the evidence was sufficient to convict I was sure that the people of Atlanta would see to it that he was not discharged.

WOULD TAKE $1,000.

"Colyar said that it would take $1,000 to put the deal through. I presume he meant getting the evidence. I told him that if it was sufficient to convict I did not think there would be any trouble getting the money passed up to pay the expenses. I let them know mighty plain that they were not going to get any money from me.

"The first time I laid my eyes on Colyar I was not impressed with him. He talked about getting the affidavits, and mentioned something about transferring them in DeKalb county. That part of it sounded ridiculous to me, because a felony is a felony, no matter where it is committed, and I figured that if they were going to pull off something crooked they might just as well do it in Fulton as in any other county, because the laws are all the same.

"Apparently, Miles was not interested in what I said, for he left the room, and in a few minutes Colyar got up and said, "I'll see you tomorrow."

DENIES HE'S "CONTROLLED"

Regarding the statements attributed to Colonel Felder, the mayor said: "I don't believe anyone in Atlanta will believe I am controlled by Thomas B. Felder or anyone else. Nor will anyone believe he controls Judge Roan, Solicitor Dorsey or anyone else. Colonel Felder will probably contradict that statement. I am sure that he did not give such an utterance."

Colonel Felder called at his office Monday afternoon, but not with Charles C. Jones, who came in later, the mayor said. He said.

"Colonel Felder came to my office and told me that his men, in hunting evidence in the Phagan case, ran into evidence to show that disorderly houses were operating under police protection. He said that the man he had working on the Phagan case was getting $6 a day, and explained that he could not take one of the other men from his force to work on the graft investigation.

"I told him that if the evidence was positive and sufficient to convict there would be no trouble, in my opinion, in getting up the money. He said that the evidence was in documentary form and was sufficient to convict. That was the substance of our conversation.

"As to the statement that Charles C. Jones was with Colonel Felder when he came to my office, Monday afternoon, that is not true. Colonel Felder was alone. Mr. Jones came in afterwards. I understand that he was attending the session of the council. He came in only for a minute."

Jones said that he attended the meeting of the council and did not speak to the mayor or will near the close of the session. He said:

"I had some business in the mayor's office and left council chamber to attend to it. As I was entering the mayor's office I saw Colonel Felder coming out. Our conversation was casual and had absolutely nothing to do with this matter.

"I have been drawn into this affair, although I had nothing to do with it.

"Ed Miles came to me and informed me that Colyar wanted to see me. Miles said that he had some affidavits which would interest me. I went to the room in the Williams house, No. 2, next to the city hall, in the evening. I am not sure what day it was, but can find out later by refreshing my mind. Colyar was there. He said that he had something which would interest me. I asked him what it was. He spoke about money, and I told him that he had better see the mayor.

"He asked me if the police had not asked for money, and if Chief Beavers had not given me a raw deal. I told him that I did not pay the police anything, nor did I charge those things against Beavors or any member of the police department. Colyar grew impatient and said to Miles: 'Oh, it's no use talking to him. He has no confidence in me.'

"I told Colyar that I had no business with him; that I had not sought the interview, and had visited him in his room simply because I had been informed by Miles that he (Colyar) had something to offer me that I was interested in. Colyar left, saying that he would see me the next day. I have not seen him since that time.

"If they have the dictograph record it'll show what I said," he concluded.

Jones declares that he believes efforts were made to trap him into Colyar's room to make him involve himself.

Give Precedence to This Important Claim.

The Board if Education is well warranted in urging Council to provide in the June apportionment sheet a fund sufficient to erect a suitable building for the Girls' English-Commercial High School, and in asking the finance committee to give this matter precedence over other claims.

The committee's task is always a difficult and delicate one, requiring as it does that a limited municipal income be stretched and distributed to an almost unlimited number of worthy appeals. But the need of an adequate building for the English-Commercial High School is so vitally important that it merits particular consideration; and, if any request must be denied or postponed, it should not be this one that involves the life of a great institution and the safety of the hundreds of girls who are enrolled as its pupils.

It is not exaggeration to say that the present rented quarters of the English-Commercial High School are a grave menace to its students. The school is scattered among three buildings which were designed as residences for families of average size; they are made of wood and are virtually without the fire protection that is essential to any place where large numbers of people are gathered.

In addition to this, these makeshift buildings are insufficient to care for the school's increasing enrollment. The students are now crowded almost beyond the capacity of the rooms and it is estimated that next term, unless ampler quarters are provided, between seventy-five and a hundred new applicants must be denied admission.

The English-Commercial High School means too much to the educational life and progress of Atlanta, too much to the welfare and opportunities of hundreds of homes to be stinted in its needs and rights. If there is to be a new building in the course of the next school term, a fund for that purpose must be set aside in the June apportionment sheet in order that work may begin without further delay. It is to be hoped that the finance committee and the General Council will give this matter their earnest and favorable consideration.

Politicians on the tariff may expect the voter to bolt on them.

Wealth Producing Rains.

There is nothing, after all, so important to human fortunes as those commonplace elements which make up the most threadbare subject of our conversation—the weather. There is more money in a week of golden sunshine than in all the treasuries of the world and a timely shower often brings more wealth than the most cunning devices of men could produce.

The rains that have fallen in Georgia during the past few days are worth hundreds of thousands of dollars. Reports received by the State College of Agriculture from its farm demonstration agents show that only a few counties are still suffering from drouth. Not to country folk alone but to great numbers of city dwellers who have young gardens, the rains will prove a seasonable blessing. Many varieties of vegetables that were famishing for a good drink have been revived and the outlook for boiled dinners is a hundred times more cheering.

According to the State commissioner of agriculture the rains will prove a wonderful benefit to cotton that has not yet come up and, fortunately, only a little more than fifty per cent of the crop is yet above ground. While spring oats are said to be turning out rather poorly, fall oats are particularly promising. It is a noteworthy fact that food crops are being cultivated more extensively in Georgia this year than ever before and also that the diversification idea is being more liberally applied.

It is a cheering omen for the State's agricultural progress and welfare that farmers are ceasing to depend solely on one big crop and turning to the development of the soil's varied resources. We can well afford to produce less cotton, if at the same time we produce more foodstuffs.

President Wilson curbed oratory both in America and in Japan.

Atlanta-Made Goods.

Plans to establish a permanent exhibit of Atlanta-made goods have been taken up with renewed vigor by the Chamber of Commerce directors and it is believed that this interesting enterprise will soon be pressed to consummation.

Certain it is that no proposal of recent years means more to the city's industrial growth or to the expansion of its trade.

Atlanta now has more than five hundred manufacturing plants which turn out between a thousand and fifteen different products. Indeed, it is doubtful that any other city in all the Union has, in proportion to its size, such a diversity of industrial interests.

With all these varied products, a most interesting and impressive exhibit could be made, one that would attract the attention of visitors from every part of the South and that would show in concrete form the wonderful advantages which this city offers the investor of capital and the purchaser of merchandise.

The annual expositions of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association held at the auditorium are productive of a vast deal of good; but what is needed now is a permanent display of the products, so that they may be conveniently seen by all visitors to the city and thus become a year-around advertisement.

Several progressive communities much smaller than Atlanta have inaugurated this plan with profitable and far-reaching results. It is much to be hoped that some such enterprise, conceived and carried out on a really great scale, will soon be realized in this, the South's commercial and manufacturing center.

And now they say Governor Hi Johnson has his eye on a senatorship, which may be an answer to the question of why so much jingoism.

Think of It!

In this homely and striking manner, the Macon News states Georgia's urgent need of producing more live stock of its own. We are told that our farmers now spend something like twelve million dollars a year for mules purchased in distant sections and proportionately large sums are spent for beef and cattle. This is a short-sighted policy which hinders the State's agricultural progress; and it is the more to be regretted in view of the fact that it is altogether unnecessary. A small fraction of the money now sent to foreign quarters, if invested in the raising of colts at home, would suffice the needs of Georgia farms and at the same time lay the foundation of a new and ever-increasing source of wealth. The Louisville Courier-Journal aptly remarks in this connection:

"No State can produce everything it needs, but some of the Southern States fail egregiously in producing the things they need most. Scarcely a State in the South produces enough corn for its own use. Most of the Southern States are short in hog production. This means that millions of dollars are paid out every year for corn and meat which might just as well be kept at home if the farmers could be induced to put forth the proper efforts. Too many of the farms are virtually one-crop farms.

There are cheering signs that Georgia farmers are turning more and more numerously to the production of food crops. Cotton is losing its old-time tyranny over the soil. More corn and peas and other such products are being raised. But there is still a grievous need of raising more live stock.

The tariff bill seems destined to go through without a hitch, much to the disappointment of a few reactionaries.

Japan's Ill Emperor.

The young emperor who lies critically ill in the palace at Tokio is one of the most interesting sovereigns of the time and, in his manner and outlook, is perhaps the most liberal ruler Japan ever knew.

Always interested in western affairs and western peoples, he has kept in close touch with the progress of European thought. He speaks French well and has a fair knowledge, it is said, of English and German. The emperor is the first of his family to visit territory outside his island dominion. He has made a trip to Korea and it was recently reported that he even contemplated a journey to Europe.

His people pray for his recovery, realizing as they do that his death might threaten revolution. The crown prince, his eldest son, is just twelve years old. A vacancy on the throne, occurring at the present time, might lead to grave results.

MAKING THE IDEAL REAL

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.

(Copyright, 1913, by Frank Crane.)

The Supreme Being's name is the Creator.

Man is a child of Him. Consequently the divinest thing He does is to create.

He cannot make something out of nothing, but He can do what is almost as miraculous. He can make the real out of the ideal.

The root meaning of the word "poet" is "maker." How he "makes" is indicated in the familiar lines of Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream:"

The poet's eye, in a fine frenzy rolling,
Doth glance from heaven to earth, from earth to heaven;
And as imagination bodies forth
The form of things unknown, the poet's pen
Turns them to shapes, and gives to airy nothing
A local habitation and a name.

There is a dash of poetry in all good work, whether housekeeping, railroading or millinery. Just that flash of the ideal made real distinguishes the artist from the artisan, craftsmanship from labor, the author from the hack writer.

This is the true patent of nobility, the seed of undying fame. A cheap, low deed can bring you notoriety, only that deed where the ideal becomes real can bring you real fame, which is "a monument more lasting than brass."

The "Hallelujah Chorus" from the "Messiah" is sung throughout Christendom every Christmas. It is king of choruses. No composition has successfully disputed its place. That is because Handel saw heaven opened and heard the angels of God singing, and somehow made his fancy real in music.

When you see Michelangelo's "Moses," or Leonardo Da Vinci's "Mona Lisa," or the cathedral of Cologne, you have the strange feeling of something peeping out at you from the infinite unreal; you are brushed by the breath of eternity.

But the great masters are set as lighthouses to guide common lives. You and I, in our small corner, can live as luminously, if we catch their secret.

Marriage that has lost its poetry, its sense of ideal values, the tender spiritual significancies of love, becomes a prison and a horror.

Motherhood is irksome where no unseen wings flutter above the cradle.

What laboring men need more than any of the things they are organizing to get is the spirit that shall change work into craft; for a man's best wage is of the spirit.

Business that has no ideal is deadly. If it means only amassing wealth the day will soon come to us that Matthew Arnold described of Augustan Rome:

On that hard pagan world disgust
And secret loathing fell;
Deep weariness and sated lust
Made human life a hell.

It is the power to make the ideal real that makes the cook a chef, the actor a star, the singer a diva, the preacher a prophet, the teacher a spiritual torch, the politician a statesman, the editor a "prime minister of public opinion," the woman "a spirit yet a woman, too."

The only beneficent part of religion is the color, warmth, and glow it gives to humdrum lives.

The world is hungry and thirsty for this power to make real the ideal. Down in the core of our souls we do not want money nor blare of place and prestige; we want the touch of the Ithuriel spear that shall make daily things wonderful, shoot our commonplace existence through with bright miracles, and rain mystery, light and beauty into barren days.

They are taking our professions,

A Batch of Smiles

Graham B. Nichol, who, being the best poker player in the national capital, plays with some of Washington's biggest and richest men, was being told one morning of a game the evening before when a stranger had lost an immense sum of money.

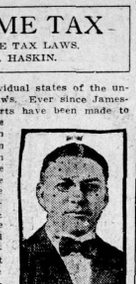
Will West, chief comedian in support of Donald Brian in "The Siren," although thought by everybody an American, is really a native of London. Each summer Mr. West goes home, visiting in London his aged father. During Will West's last visit to England new elections were on and the budget was up for general discussion over the country. Eager to hear some of the English statesmen on the stump, Mr. West attended a crowded meeting at Manchester, where Mr. Asquith was to speak. The hall was packed to suffocation; but the speaker was prompt and got to the business of England's financial difficulties quickly. Lucidly, pungently and earnestly, after his usual manner, Mr. Asquith was in the midst of a closely knit statement of England and her fiscal ailment when one of the several hundred crowded in the middle of the hall shouted out:

"Yes, Mr. Asquith, but what did Gladstone do in 1880?" At once there was an uproar and general shouts of "Throw him out!" and then quiet was restored. The speaker resumed. But no sooner had Mr. Asquith again struck his gait than the stentorian cry of "What did Gladstone do in 1880?" filled the hall once more. This was too much for the rest of the gathering; so without further rejoinders the owner of the interrupting voice was ejected from the hall. With one grand rush he was hurled into the street as if he were a sack of meal. Then curiosity took hold of a Scotchman who had helped kick the intruder out—curiosity so unconquerable that the Scotchman walked over to the ejected citizen of Manchester, and narrowly watching him pick himself up and brush his clothes, sarcastically inquired: "Weel, now that it's all over, what did Gladstone do in 1880?" "Blamed if I know," answered the bedraggled and excited interrupter, "but I've got to catch a train and that's the only way I could get out of that hall."

THE INCOME TAX

XVII.—STATE INCOME TAX LAWS.
BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.



A large number of the individual states of the union have enacted income tax laws. Ever since Jamestown and Plymouth Rock efforts have been made to adjust taxation burdens to the ability to bear them. First, in colonial days, it took the form of a "faculty tax," which can scarcely be called an income tax, since it simply taxed the ability to earn rather than the amount of income. For instance, it presumed that a lawyer was better able to make money than a grocery clerk, and he was taxed accordingly, although at that moment he might be a briefless lawyer whose principal income was the satisfaction he could get out of waiting for clients. Likewise the doctor was supposed to be able to earn a better living than the farm laborer, and he was taxed accordingly, although his office rent might at that moment exceed his income from his practice. This was about as near an approach to an income tax as there was in the colonies and states before the ratification of the constitution. And inasmuch as it taxed all lawyers alike, although one might make ten times as much as another; all doctors alike, although one might have a dozen patients where another had one, it can scarcely be considered just or equitable, much less a tax on income.

• • •

One of the most recent, as well as one of the most interesting of the state income tax laws, is that enacted by Wisconsin in 1911. Under it income is supposed to include: all rent from real estate, with the estimated rental value of residence property occupied by the owner thereof; all interest received; all wages, salaries and fees, except those received by public officers for public services; all dividends and profits from stocks and business; all royalties, and all other kinds of income. From this income may be deducted all the necessary expenses or outgo. In the case of companies and corporations this includes salaries and wages of officers and employes, where the names and addresses of such officers and employes who receive more than $700 a year are furnished; other operating expenses including a reasonable allowance for depreciation; uncompensated losses, taxes and interest upon securities exempted from taxation by federal laws; and dividends or incomes received from other sources where an income tax has been paid.

• • •

In the case of individuals the deductions consist of the same things allowed to companies and corporations, and in addition to these they include pensions, inheritance upon which an inheritance tax has been paid, and life insurance up to $10,000 received from decedents by their dependents.

• • •

The exemptions under the Wisconsin law include incomes up to $800 which, in the case of husband and wife, is increased to $1,200. For each child under eighteen years and for each other dependent, there is an additional exemption of $200. In this way a man who has a wife and five children gets an exemption of $2,200, or $1,400 more than the man who has no children. As the taxable rate is 1 per cent on income up to $1,000 above the exemption, and 1 1-4 per cent up to the second thousand, it will be seen that the state allows the man with a wife and five children a reduction of $15 a year in his taxes over the man without a family.

• • •

North and South Carolina have income tax laws, the one in North Carolina having been revised repeatedly. For awhile it recognized the principles of graduation and differentiation, but as last amended it placed the tax at 1 per cent on all incomes above $1,000. The South Carolina tax law provides a system of graduation, but the law is not enforced, and the revenue it brings in is wholly negligible.

• • •

Oklahoma has an income tax law which provides that from all salaries, fees, professions and property in excess of $3,500, upon which neither a gross-receipt nor an excise tax has been paid an income tax starting with 1-2 of 1 per cent up to $5,000 and rising to 3 1-2 per cent on all incomes of more than $100,000 shall be paid. The Oklahoma law suffers like those of Virginia and the Carolinas from want of enforcement.

• • •

In Massachusetts there is still a survival of the old colonial "faculty tax," but here again one sees a disposition to dodge it, and the several commissions that have investigated the question of enforcing the law or of enacting an income tax law to take its place have all concluded that there is little public sentiment in Massachusetts in favor of the enforcement of the faculty tax or of the enactment of an income tax.

In his valuable work upon the income tax Prof. Seligman, of Columbia university, calls attention to a remarkable omission that was made in the argument of the income tax cases in testing the constitutionality of the income tax law of 1894. One of the principal aims of that proceeding was to discover just what the constitution meant when it inhibited the levying of direct taxes except by apportionment among the states, so as to determine whether income taxes were included in that category. In 1796 Washington's secretary of treasury, Oliver Wolcott, drew up what afterward became a famous statement on direct taxes in the several states. In discussing taxes on profits resulting from certain employments, he said that it was "presumed that taxes of this nature cannot be considered as of that description which the constitution requires to be apportioned among the states. That their operation is indirect, and that they are perfectly certain arguments in their favor."

• • •

This striking statement gives the best view that may be found of the interpretation of the constitution that the men who made it put upon it, and yet, in not one of the voluminous briefs or arguments of that case was it referred to. Since the states have adopted the income tax amendment, however, the comparative promptness with which they did it seems to prove that they regard the tax as one within the province of the federal government rather than that of the states, and it will be interesting to watch whether those states which have nicome tax laws will continue to levy the tax on incomes that are taxed under the proposed federal law.

Keeping Chickens.

Laudatory remarks about Black Orpingtons, Plymouth Rocks and other fancy breds of fowls a few days ago reminded Congressman Henry Allen Cooper of a chicken dinner in Maryland.

The dinner, the congressman said, was given by a colored man named Ebenezer White, and the guest of the evening was George Washington Green, chief deacon of the little church that White occasionally attended.

Grace, of course, was eloquently said, and at its conclusion White began to carve the chicken. Then Deacon Green became facetious.

"No, sah!" came the prompt response of White, as he deftly pried loose a well-roasted wing, "but he try hard 'nuff to keep 'em."—Philadelphia Telegram.

NORTHERN ASSEMBLY FINISHES ITS WORK AND SAYS GOOD-BYE

Closing Session Friday Afternoon Was Marked by Exchange of Loving Farewells Between Guests and Hosts

The northern assembly adjourned at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon to meet again on May 21, 1914, at the Fourth Presbyterian church, Chicago, Ill., of which the moderator, John Timothy Stone, D. D., is pastor.

The closing session was taken up chiefly with the transaction of routine business incident to the close, and with the exchange of farewell greetings between the assembly and the representatives of the local hospitality committees.

DETAILS OF SESSION.

The Northern assembly reconvened at 9 o'clock Friday afternoon and promptly got down to business in order to finish if possible, and adjourn sine die at the close of the day.

The committee on American Bible society reported that while it could not recommend the society for the assembly budget, it commended the society to congregations for their budgets. The report was adopted.

The committee on Presbyterian Historical society recommended the society to sessions for all their aid and co-operation. The report was adopted.

The committee on canvass of overtures reported that of the eight overtures sent down to the presbyteries by the assembly of 1912, only two were approved, they being as follows:

That all sessions be required to keep accurate and complete statistics showing new members, members suspended, members transferred, marriages, births and deaths.

That suspended members shall not be counted on church rolls.

The system of church government was amended accordingly.

Among the overtures defeated was one reducing the number of commissioners in the general assembly.

The committee on minutes of synods rendered a routine report, which was adopted.

Rev. A. A. Holzer, a Hebrew Christian, was introduced to the assembly. He urged the assembly to turn the attention of the Presbyterian church to Christian mission work among the Jews.

Following his address, Dr. W. S. Plumer Bryan, at the direction of the moderator, led the assembly in prayer for God's chosen people.

ROUTINE RESOLUTIONS.

The routine resolutions giving orders for publication of the minutes, payment of ad interim bills, filling of vacancies on special committees, etc., were read by the stated clerk and adopted.

The committee on leaves of absence made its report, which was adopted and ordered spread upon the minutes.

The standing committees reported, through their respective chairmen, that they had acted on all papers referred to them and that the same be left with the stated clerk. The committees were then formally discharged.

Dr. J. S. Lyons, moderator of the U. S. assembly, which adjourned in Atlanta Thursday, was introduced to the assembly and received with the most hearty applause.

He spoke of organic union between all groups of the Presbyterian family, saying that when the forces of the Presbyterian and Reformed faith are properly arrayed together, they should constitute an irresistible power in the United States.

A PRESBYTERIAN NATION.

"This should be a Presbyterian nation," said he, "and already it is influential far beyond the proportion of its numerical strength. And this is no accident, because there is, as we all know, an affinity between the genius of Presbyterianism and the free institutions of our land."

The assembly greeted enthusiastically in Dr. Lyons' sentiments, and Moderator Stone replied by reading an appropriate passage from the scriptures.

The final roll of commissioners was taken, the final minutes were read and approved. The remainder of the session consisted of farewell greetings.

ATLANTA IS THANKED.

Rev. Andrew J. Kerr, D. D., on behalf of the special resolutions committee, read appropriate expressions of thanks to Moderator Stone and Stated Clerk Roberts, which were adopted by a rising vote.

Similar thanks and appreciation were rendered to the local hospitality committees; to the people in whose hospitable homes the commissioners were entertained; to Agnes Scott college, where a pleasant afternoon was spent; to the Atlanta newspapers for their full and painstaking reports of the proceedings; to the Atlanta National Bank for its courtesies; to the Atlanta postmaster and postoffice clerks; to the trustees of the Baptist Tabernacle; to the Postal and Western Union Telegraph companies, etc.—all of which were adopted with enthusiasm.

FAREWELL GREETINGS.

Rev. Hugh K. Walker, pastor of First Presbyterian church, Atlanta, spoke his greetings and farewell.

Rev. Richard O. Flynn, pastor of the North Avenue Presbyterian church bade the commissioners, as he said, "a homelek goodbye."

Rev. Jere A. Moore, pastor of Harris Street Presbyterian church, and chairman of the executive committee, which prepared for the assemblies, spoke of the great pleasure and the great spiritual blessing Atlanta has derived from the occasion.

J. K. Orr told the commissioners one of his funny stories and warmed their hearts.

Samuel M. Inman prayed God's blessings on the commissioners and wished them a safe return home.

Rev. C. A. R. Janvier, D. D., of Philadelphia, who goes soon to become president of Union Christian college, Allahabad, India, asked the commissioners to recognize that faraway institution as a part of their church, and to remember it and him in their hearts and prayers.

Then Moderator Stone told the commissioners good-by in a few simple, warm-hearted words, and the assembly, having transacted all business, adjourned to meet again at Chicago on May 21, 1914.

GERMAN ARMY SHORT ON LIEUTENANT RECRUITS

(By Associated Press.)

BERLIN, May 24.—A resolution striking 1,000 additional army lieutenants and 1,044 non-commissioned officers from the number demanded by the German government in the new army bill was adopted by the budget committee today after it had been introduced by the center party.

It was asserted that this action had been taken because the number demanded was not available, as there are not enough aspirants for commissions.

LEO M. FRANK INDICTED BY GRAND JURY FOR MARY PHAGAN'S DEATH

told of going to the undertaker's establishment and identifying the girl's body. She remained in the jury room only a few minutes.

Miss Hix was followed by E. F. Holloway, the day watchman at the pencil factory who is said to have left the factory about 11:45 o'clock on the Saturday of the tragedy.

Holloway was questioned relative to the position of the elevator when he left the building. It stood at the second floor, he said. The witness said he thinks that, as had been his custom, he locked the box covering the switches that control the elevator and put the keys in their customary place, which was known to probably all in the office.

On his return Monday the elevator, as nearly as he could remember, was in the same place he had left it Saturday, the witness said.

OTHER WITNESSES.

He was followed by M. B. Darley, who in turn was followed by Judge Barry, the official court stenographer, who took the testimony at the inquest.

Miss Monteen Stover was then called to the stand. She testified that she went to the factory at about 12:10 o'clock on the Saturday of the tragedy to get her pay. She waited until about 12:20, she said. No one came into the office, and she left, returning the following Saturday.

Harry Scott, of the Pinkerton detective agency, was called to the stand to repeat the testimony given by him at the inquest.

He was followed by R. B. Hazlett, a city detective, and J. M. Gantt, both of whom testified to the demeanor of Frank, the first on the day of his arrest and the second on the day of the crime.

W. H. Gheesland, an embalmer employed by P. J. Bloomfield, the undertaker, was the last witness. Immediately after he left the jury room, Solicitor Dorsey followed him out and the jury took up its verdict.

The grand jury began its investigation of the Phagan case Friday morning at 10 o'clock, only two sessions being held beofre an indictment was returned.

DEPUTY RECOGNIZES HIS "MAN" BY A POSTCARD

George Duke Won't Work to Support Her, Says Wife, Asking Divorce

Upon an order of the court, a ne exeat writ, in a suit for support brought by his wife, May Duke, George Duke was arrested Saturday morning by Deputy Sheriff George Broadnax. As he failed to make the required bond of $200, he was given a cell in the jail, pending his trial on May 31.

Duke was recognized by the deputy from a postcard photograph that Mrs. Duke had sent to the sheriff's office a few days ago.

In her suit for support and attorney's fees, Mrs. Duke alleged they were married on April 12, 1912, and that Duke left her March 15, 1913. Since that time they have lived in separation, and he has not contributed a cent to her support, says the petition.

It is further alleged that he refuses to work, in order that he may not have claims to be in destitute circumstances.

DOUBLE HANGING IS HELD IN EATONTON

EATONTON, Ga., May 24.—The double hanging of two negroes, Jake Crawford and Carter Tompkins, Friday broke a record of more than forty years since Putnam county has had a hanging of any sort. It also broke the record of Judge Fred Foster, of Madison, who claims to have never before had a client hanged, and went before the governor to plead with all his power in a hopeless case without avail. Attorney B. Nettles Alsbrook again went before Governor Brown Thursday, even after being turned down by the governor and the prison commission ten days ago, in a last effort to save the prisoners' lives.

The negroes were convicted of killing other negroes.

where was Gordon Bailey (Snowball they call him) and I told him he was on the elevator, and he asked me if I knew the night watchman and I told him no sir I didn't know him, and he asked me if I ever saw him in the basement and I told him no sir I never did see him down there, but he could ask the fireman and maybe he could tell him more about that than I could, and then Mr. Frank was laughing and jollying and going on in the office, and I asked him not to take out any money for that watch man I owed, for I didn't have any to spare, and he told me he wouldn't, but he would see to me getting some money a little bit later. He told me he had some wealthy people in Brooklyn, and then he held his head up and looked out of the corner of his eyes and said "why should I hang" and that's all I remember him saying to me. When I asked him not to take out money for the watch he said you ought not to buy any watch, for that wife of mine wants me to buy her an automobile but he wouldn't do it; I never did see his wife. On Tuesday morning after the Holiday on Saturday, before Mr. Frank got in jail, he came up the isle where I was sweeping and held his head over to me and whispered to me to be a good boy, and that was all he said to me.

NEGRO CROSS-QUESTIONED.

Immediately after the grand jury, with which he had been engaged closely, finished its work temporarily by returning a true bill charging Leo M. Frank with the murder of Mary Phagan, Solicitor Dorsey entered his own office, where the negro sweeper from the factory, James Conley, was being detained by several detectives.

There the solicitor was closeted with the negro and the detectives for considerably more than an hour.

It was evident that the negro was being subjected to a rigid examination. It seemed that he was not wavering under it, however, from his sworn statement that he wrote some notes at the dictation of Superintendent Frank on the day before the murder.

All of the detectives, except one, were members of the city detective force. The one exception was Harry Scott, member of the Pinkerton office in Atlanta.

James Conley has never seen the two notes, which he claims to have written at Leo M. Frank's dictation. The notes reposed in a safety deposit vault in a local bank throughout the day Saturday, and Solicitor Dorsey did not have them produced before the negro.

Conley stuck to his story that he had written the notes at Frank's dictation.

The detectives had dictated the notes from copies to the negro, and he wrote them out early Saturday morning. Before the solicitor, he identified the two notes written by himself Saturday morning, and declared that they were copies of the ones he wrote for Frank, so it is said.

HAS NEGRO CONFESSED MORE?

When the negro, Conley, was brought back to police headquarters he was immediately locked up and reporters were not allowed to see him. This led to the belief at headquarters that the negro had confessed more than had yet become known. It was stated that the chemist's analysis of stains on the shirt he was washing to wear to he inques might have shown that the stains were from blood and not rust, as at first supposed. The chemist's report is in the solicitor's possession. He refuses to say what that report is.

FRANK'S ATTORNEYS MAKE NO COMMENT

Neither L. Z. Rosser Nor Herbert Haas Had Any Statement to Make

"Not a word to say," was Attorney Luther Z. Rosser's comment when informed by a Journal reporter that his client, Leo M. Frank, had been indicted by the grand jury for the murder of Mary Phagan.

Mr. Rosser held in his hand a Journal extra telling of the affidavit by the negro, James Connally, that on the day before the tragedy Mr. Frank called him into his (Frank's) office and asked him to dictate two notes, and that he believes the notes he dictated are the same ones found beside the murdered girl's body in the pencil factory basement.

Asked if he would permit The Journal to interview Mr. Frank, Mr. Rosser said he would not.

"I have no statement to make. You'd better see Mr. Rosser," was the reply of Attorney Herbert Haas when seen a few moments later by the same reporter and informed of Mr. Frank's indictment.

Mr. Haas is associated with Mr. Rosser in the defense.

He likewise declined to permit Mr. Frank to be interviewed.

Where Is Col. Felder's Fee in Phagan Case Coming From?" He Asks

Chief of Detectives Newport Lanford told The Journal Saturday afternoon that he doesn't want to make any formal statement at this time regarding the charges of Colonel Thomas B. Felder. The charges were absurd, as any one familiar with the workings of the detective department would know, he said. The "personal attacks" were entirely unwarranted, he said.

"I want Felder to answer this question," the chief said. "Why was he working without fees? Ask him where were his fees coming coming from."

Chief of Police Beavers said he did not care to discuss the matter at this time.

ESCAPED CONVICT ONLY HAD FEW DAYS' LIBERTY

John Love, a negro blockade distiller, escaped a few days ago with two other prisoners from the jail at Fairburn, Ga., only to be caught again Friday night in DeKalb county by several members of the county police forces.

Love was discovered over a month ago in the act of making "moonshine" in the woods of Clayton county. He was shot in the hand as he attempted to escape. He was convicted at his trial and given a sentence. The negro will be taken back to Fairburn.

NEWT LEE WILL GIVE CONVICTING EVIDENCE, ATTORNEY INDICATES

Bernard L. Chappell, Lawyer for Negro Suspect, Declares His Client's Testimony to Be Invaluable to the Case

Bernard L. Chappell, attorney for Newt Lee, the negro night watchman held as a suspect in connection with the murder of Mary Phagan, gave The Journal a statement Saturday indicating that his client will give practically convicting evidence as to the identity of the murderer.

"I consider his testimony the strongest known to the public against the guilty party," said Mr. Chappell. "Before I would see him released and give the guilty party a chance to get his hands on Lee, I, his attorney, would swear out a warrant to hold him for the murder of Mary Phagan."

It is to be presumed from the tone of Mr. Chappell's card that Lee has given his attorney information yet withheld from the detectives. Mr. Chappell's card to The Journal follows in full:

"To The Journal: I represent Newt Lee, the Phagan suspect. I wish to state that anyone who says that Newt Lee, the negro suspect in the Mary Phagan case, should be set free, is wrong, and before I would see him released and give the guilty part of this, the deepest and foulest murder ever committed in our state, a chance to get his hands on Lee, I, his attorney, would swear out a warrant to hold him for the murder of Mary Phagan.

"I consider his testimony the strongest known to the public against the guilty party. I want the public to know that it is my desire that the state's custodian, our sheriff, C. W. Mangum, must hold my client, Newt Lee, to help avenge the murder of the little Mary Phagan girl whose blood cries to the Creator of us all.

HE LISTENED TO DICTOGRAPH ON COL. THOS. B. FELDER

Stenographer who heard dictograph conversation in adjoining room and took it down in shorthand.

RESIDENTS OF BELLWOOD ASK THE JOURNAL TO SAY THAT MR. FELDER WAS NOT EMPLOYED BY THEM

Certain residents of Bellwood, the part of Atlanta where live Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Coleman, the parents of little Mary Phagan, wish The Journal to put them publicly on record in denouncing as absolutely untrue certain published reports to the effect that a subscription has been collected from them to employ Attorney Thomas B. Felder or any other lawyer, to assist in the prosecution of the alleged slayer.

Saturday morning, J. W Hammond, of 161 Bellwood avenue, delivered the following statement to The Journal:

"There is absolutely no truth in the report that a subscription has been started by the residents of Bellwood to employ Thomas B. Felder to assist in the prosecution of the slayer or little Mary Phagan I have lived out there for a long time, and certainly would have been approached had such a move been started.

"When I heard of the list, and yet did not see it, I could not understand why the persons circulating it had not been to me.

"I began to inquire around, and soon became convinced that no such move had been started.

"The people out here know of no such thing having been attempted, and certainly all of us would have been more than willing to give—had we wanted Mr. Felder.

"He simply 'butted in.'"

J. M. Redd, proprietor of a drug store at 195 Bellwood avenue, declared to The Journal, with Mr. Hammond, that he had never been approached for funds and had heard of no such list being circulated.

George C. Barron, of 151 Wheeler street, who is conducting a series of revival meetings in Bellwood, was another who desired to be quoted. He said that he had heard nothing of the subscription being gotten up.

H. C. McCall, an employe of the Georgia Railway and Power company, whose father runs a grocery store in Bellwood, asked The Journal to report that a man giving his name as Bowen had called at the store with a petition already drawn up for subscriptions to employ the law firm of which Mr. Felder is a member. The man asked to see Mr. Coleman, he said, but the child's father could not be found at his home on Lindsay street.

WOULDN'T COST A CENT.

"This fellow, who gave his name as Bowen," said McCall, "then left the paper at the store, telling me that I could employ Mr. Felder, and that it would not cost a cent. I told him that I did not want to on any such thing, as Mr. Coleman has said already that he had not decided on the matter of getting an attorney.

"Bowen insisted on taking me to the office of Mr. Felder, and we went there together. The latter told me that he thought I was right, that it would be best for me not to do anything without the sanction of Mr. Coleman.

"None of the Bellwood people knew anything about why the petition was brought out there by Bowen from Mr. Felder's office, and we did not pay any attention to it.

"My father saw it lying in a show case one day and signed his name to it along with three others.

"It has never been outside of the store, and not one person has been asked to subscribe.

"I was with Mr. Coleman at the inquest the day that the man approached him and offered the services of Mr. Felder free.

"Mr. Coleman said that he did not want him, but the man insisted that he at least have a talk with Mr. Felder. Mr. Coleman said that he was perfectly willing to talk with the lawyer, but that it would make no difference in his position. They went away together, and if they saw Mr. Felder I know nothing of it. As near as I can remember, this occurred on Monday."

Saturday's Game Called Early to Let Mobile Club Get Away

CAN'T WIN EVERY GAME; JOHNSON MAKING RECORD

Cleveland Scored More Runs Off Johnson in Nine Innings Than Six Other Teams Were Able to Score in Seventy Rounds–But Eight Runs in Seventy-Nine Rounds – Few Bases on Balls and Many Strike-outs by Washington Star

Even the best get their bumps sometimes.

Walter Johnson, Washington's star hurler, won ten straight games and checked a batting rally in another which the Senators won, and then he dropped a slaughter to the Cleveland Naps. Before losing, Johnson won over every club in the league, his work being of the scoreless variety until he struck St. Louis on May 14.

Of course the Washington team backs up the start flinger in Jam-up style, but it was the big boy's hurling which won games so easily and decisively. Johnson started the season against the New York club on April 10 and allowed one run the first inning. After that the flinger went fifty-six consecutive innings without allowing a run. Derrill Pratt, the ex-Montgomery star, driving home a run in the fifth inning of a game in St. Louis on May 14.

In the seventy-nine innings Johnson has hurled this year he has allowed just eight runs and fifty-four hits. This is an average of .101 runs per inning and but .28 hits per inning. Until the defeat he suffered at the hands of Cleveland on Thursday, when he allowed thirteen hits and was shut out 5 to 0, Johnson had allowed but three runs and forty-one hits.

In making his sensational record, Johnson won twice over New York, three times over Boston, once over Philadelphia, once over St. Louis, once over Detroit and once over Cleveland. He pitched one other inning against Boston and hurled shutout ball, but did not get credit for the victory, as the Senators were ahead when he went to the slab.

Clark Griffith, the Washington manager, states that in making his great run of victories that Johnson has not been forced to extend himself. He was just not right when he tried to hurl Thursday's game against the Naps. It being exceptional for any club to get as many as thirteen hits off his delivery.

Not only has Johnson hurled unhittable ball, but he has shown a bunch of control, walking but nine batsmen, hitting three and making not a wild pitch in his seventy-nine innings.

Here is Johnson's record to date:

Date—Opponents.	I.P.	R.	H.	S.O.	H.	B.B.	W.P.
April 8—New York	9	1	8	2	1	0	0
April 17—New York	9	0	6	8	0	0	0
April 23—Boston	9	0	2	7	2	0	0
April 25—Boston	1	0	2	1	0	0	0
April 26—Philadelphia	9	0	4	10	1	0	0
May 3—Boston	2	2-3	0	4	4	1	0	0
May 5—Boston	5	0	4	3	0	0	0
May 10—Chicago	9	0	2	4	1	0	0
May 14—St. Louis	6	0	3	7	0	1	0
May 18—Detroit	9	1	5	1	3	1	0
May 21—Cleveland	1	1-3	0	1	0	0	0
May 22—Cleveland	9	5	13	6	0	1	0
Totals	79	8	54	55	9	3	0

No Accident Says Griff

"Walter Johnson's ten straight victories are far from being anything fluky," declared Manager Griffith, of the Washington club, Thursday morning. "I haven't seen any better pitching than he is showing us now, and I don't think I ever expect to see it equalled.

"There was a time when the critics said Walt used nothing but his speed and that he would not last long on that account. But he has got by that fault now if he ever had it, and is using as pretty a curve ball as any one wants to see. He mixes it up with a slow ball and his smoker, so it's no wonder he hasn't been defeated this year."

Travers Goes To the Finals

NEW YORK, May 24.—When Jerome D. Travis, of Upper Montclair, and Alfred E. Kammer, of Foxhills, finalists in the Metropolitan amateur golf championship tournament, began their thirty-six-hole match today they were followed by a large gathering of enthusiasts. Threatening weather and rain-deluged grounds were offset by the fact that Champion Travers had been displaying wonderful golf all through the week, and all who could were anxious to see him strive to win the title for the third successive time.

Kammer, who learned the game on the Staten Island links, knows every inch of the course, and, while he did *not show any extraordinary ability dur*ing the week, he played consistently and was expected to give the champion a strong argument today. In addition to the championship finals there were to be played today the final rounds for three other prizes and a handicap, for which there was a large entry.

TODAY

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 24.—Birmingham fans look for a better game than either of the two of Friday with Memphis, and indications point to a large attendance Saturday afternoon, despite cool weather. Prough and Mayer will be the battery for Birmingham, and Harrell and Snell for Memphis.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 24.—Montgomery and Nashville conclude the pending series here this afternoon. The weather is of the "blackberry winter" variety, fair and crisp. McManus will work in the box for Nashville, with Noyes catching. Manning will pitch for Montgomery, and Gribbens catch.

CHATTANOOGA, May 24.—The last game of the New Orleans-Chattanooga series will be played this afternoon. The weather is cool and clear. Batteries, for Chattanooga Coleleskie and Street; for New Orleans Brenton and Robinson. Pitcher Hunt, secured by Chattanooga from the Northwestern league, reported today.

Auburn Boys Home Coming

Star Auburn athletes of years ago will be on hand at Auburn during the week of June 1-4 to take part in the many athletic celebrations that have been arranged for "Home-coming week."

The students at Auburn have never had a home-coming, and the one this year promises to be quite a big affair. Professor who started back in 1880 have announced their intention of being among those present and they are all anxious to get in the big baseball game that is being arranged.

The big feature of the week is the baseball game between the star players of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. Every ex-baseball player who wore an Auburn uniform is working on this big feature and it is sure going to be worth going miles and miles to witness. Auburn has had some mighty good athletes and to see them in action once again is a great treat.

Owing to the lack of accommodations at the school town all the present students will go into camp on the spacious campus and the students who were there years ago will occupy the dormitories. This will assure all the old boys who go back of having a room. From some cities special trains will be operated.

Atlanta is to be well represented. W. R. Titcheoner and S. A. Reding both of whom are remembered as star athletes of past years, are working up the enthusiasm in this section and are sure of taking back a big crowd from Atlanta and other points around Georgia. Both these ex-students are athletes and will be right in the midst of the big baseball game.

GAME SATURDAY AT 3; ATLANTA IS SHUT OUT

Bradley Hogg, Ex-Collegian, Hurled Jam-Up Ball – Musser Did Not Hurl Bad Game, but Was Hit Opportunely in Three Rounds–Good Fielding by Both Teams Marked the Fray–Four Runs in One Round Hurt Crackers

Saturday's game with the Mobile club, which is the last of the series, will be called at 3 o'clock, this move up in the time being made necessary owing to the fact that the Flinn club has to catch an early train. Each team has won a game and the fray Saturday is for the rubber.

Gilbert Price, a left hander, will be worked by Manager Smith with Pat Graham doing the catching. Opposed to this battery will be Pug Cavet on the mound for Mobile with Charley Schmidt again catching.

The two teams have played six games this year and the Gulls have gotten away with five, the four in a row in Mobile helping to keep the Finnites in first place. It is up to the Atlanta crew to again win Saturday and in this way even up matters.

Bradley Hogg, the Mercer college star and now Mobile's star hurler, Friday tamed the Atlanta Crackers, shutting the Crackers by a margin of 6 to 0. Paul Musser was Hogg's opponent and did not pitch a bad game, Mobile simply hitting the ball at opportune moments.

Though Musser lost his game he showed good control, which he has been lacking for the past few weeks. Paul walked but three batters and but for the fifth inning pitched a fine up ball. In four innings but three men faced him a round.

The Cracker batters were just simply unable to hit Hogg. Their hard hitting, which has been in evidence in Pa games, was just not there. It is foolish to expect them to hit hard in every battle, even the best sometimes getting puzzled.

Outfielder D. Robertson did some neat fielding during the progress of the game. His catch of Musser's drive in the sixth was first work and in the seventh he made a long run and catch of a line drive sent his way by Smith.

Bisland made a neat stop of O'Dell's line drive in the third. At the time the catch was made there were two runners on the bags.

Gene Paulet handled Stock's throw on Long's grounder in the sixth in approved fashion. Gene had to hustle and hurry the toss to catch Long and in so doing he threw a bit long and hard but Paulet's glove was at the right spot.

Bisland played Hogg's hard hit to short in the eighth in good style. It was a hot, clean rap and only perfect work got the hurler.

The game was one of the fastest yet played at Ponce de Leon. It took just one hour and forty-five minutes. The players were always on the move and the quick manner in which it was over is a tribute to Bill Hart, who was the umpire in charge.

Whitey went back to deep center in the sixth and got Stock's Texas leaguer. It looked for a minute as if it would be a hit.

In the fifth Bisland tossed a low, hard throw to Archer on Schaller's grounder but Joe picked it up. The neat trap saved the shortstop an error.

Jacobson timed Bill Bailey's stinging drive in the ninth and got it just before it was ready to fall safe. Only a good getaway at the crack of the bat turned this drive into an out.

Summer Work For Tech Men

All lessons are over out at the Flats and the Techites are about ready to pack the old "Please don't rains" and go back to the farm, where there is something doing all the time, back where the persimmon beer runs like water down hill, back where the buttermilk and honey flow as in days of old. But before these illustrious lads depart for their domiciles they are all filled with parting instructions by the one important personage at the school, Coach Heisman, erstwhile guardian of the school's athletic records. Now he has issued his spring proclamation to all prospective football players for the coming season. He has delivered a speech in chapel telling the boys what must be their personal conduct during the summer months in order to be able to make the teams next year.

It is a matter of great wonderment whether Coach Heisman is in cohoots with the fathers that are calculating on getting the hay crop up or that old field plowed or the woods cleared. He personifies things that will delight the heart of any farmer, and many have been the letters that come to the school thanking the authorities for the training in the real practical things of life. Our father said that he didn't think much of a college education, but that his son came home during the summer and could not do enough work around the place. He said that his son was on the wood pile all day, and that though he ate everything put on the table, he more than earned it.

But Coach Heisman has already started to work on his next year's material and has started to getting them into condition already. He has gotten the men together and has told them things to eat, how much to sleep and what kind of work to do. That Tech will have a good team next fall is practically a sure thing, as a majority of the old men will be back, and there are indications of quite a bit of prep material coming to strengthen the rank and file.

Batting Figures

Tommy Long went without a hit Friday and his average suffered a slight drop. Smith boosted his. Here are the figures:

No-hit, No-run Game

WEST POINT, Ga., May 24.—The Lanett baseball club won from La-Grange Crisp here Saturday by a score of 12 to 0. The game was one-sided from the start. The Unity club was unable to connect safely with Holiday during the entire game. This makes his second no-hit, no-run game this season. The feature of the game was the one-hand stab of Snell's drive in the fifth by Davis, Unity's fast little shortstop. But the most brilliant feature of the game was the pitching and batting of Holiday, striking out twenty-two men and getting four hits out of five times at bat.

Batteries—Lanett, Holiday and Snell; Unity, Cook and Phnozier and Hall.

The Lanett club issues a challenge to any amateur club in Alabama or Georgia. Call or write O. E. Rutland, assistant manager, West Point, Ga.

Red Leader

Social Circle Wins

SOCIAL CIRCLE, May 24.—In a very interesting game, Social Circle defeated Covington for the second time this season by the score of 6 to 1. After the first inning the game resolved itself into a pitcher's battle between Lloyd and Moore. The only feature of the game besides the good pitching, was the heavy hitting of the home team in the first inning, when all of their runs were made.

Batteries—Social Circle; Lloyd and Gibson. Covington; Harris, Moore and Water. Umpire, Stanton.

Elberton Is Loser In Two Big Games

BOWMAN, Ga., May 24.—The Elberton team dropped two out of a three-game series here Monday and Tuesday. The first game went to Bowman by the score of 5 to 4. Brewer's hitting featured for Elberton, while Rich featured for Bowman. Elberton fielded very poorly, and Smith lost his own game, making three errors and giving up ten hits.

Score by innings:	R.	H.	E.
Elberton	0	1	0
Bowman	1	0	1

Smith and Harper; Rich and Burton.

Elberton won the first game of a double header by the score of 9 to 2. Bagwell, formerly of Pensacola, was knocked out of the box in the first inning with three runs. Rich, who relieved him, also was hit hard. Harper's three-base hit to the left field was the longest ever hit on the Bowman grounds. Brewer's hitting featured.

Elberton	5	11	1
Bowman	9	11	0

Alford and Harper; Bagwell and Burton.

The third game went to Bowman to the tune of 10 to 7. Extra hard hitting on Bowman's part allowed them five runs in the first inning. After this they only hit in pinches. Burton, of Bowman, did some dirty playing in this game by running in front of the catcher, trying to make him miss the ball. His brother could score after getting a three-base hit. Manly and Hulne featured for Elberton; O. Burton featured for Bowman.

Elberton	3	7	2
Bowman	5	12	1

Alford and Harper; Rich, Burton and Burton.

DENT'S CONTROL IS GOOD; THROWS BUT FEW WIDE ONES

Until the fatal seventh inning on Wednesday, Pitcher Dent had a good record. During the first six innings he tossed the ball only sixty times, an average of ten to the inning. During the first three innings he tossed the ball only eight times to the inning.

The first ball he pitched at Ponce de Leon was a strike, as was the third, fourth and seventh. He did not give up a base on balls and tossed only sixteen which the umpire called balls.

He gave up only three hits in the sixth inning and pitched twenty-two strikes. Fourteen balls he tossed were hit but failed to count as they were easily handled.

While Dent was tossing the ball sixty times in six innings, Parsons, his opposing pitcher threw one hundred in the same number of innings, twenty of them strikes and forty-seven called balls by the umpire. The Atlanta players found him for seven hits and rapped him six-teen times for batted balls handled by the fielders supporting him.

The first ball Parsons tossed was called a ball, the first one batted. The locals fouled him nine times. Memphis fouled Dent five times.

HOW GAMES WERE WON

The games in the big show yesterday were few and far between. There was rain everywheer and lots of it. There were no games in the American at all, and only one in the National, Philadelphia trimming Cincinnati 4 to 1 in a slow game that was marred by a slow and wet field.

New Orleans and Chattanooga had a double battle yesterday and they divided the spoils equally. Swindell and Summers had a great battle in the first, but luck broke against the locals in the tenth and Chattanooga won. The hitting of More was the feature of the second game. The first in the night game was 1 to 0 in favor of Chattanooga, while the New Orleans crowd took the second battle by the score of 5 to 3.

The Barons stumped their toe yesterday, fell down and lost both games to the Turtles. The first one went by the score of 2 to 1 and the second one 6 to 0. The wildness of Foxen was the cause of the winning run being put across in the first. In the second Kissinger was strong while Thompson was hit hard.

Nashville won the first game of their series by the score of 5 to 4. Nashville made five runs off Bagby in the first four innings and after that he held them hitless. In the fifth inning Cook knocked one over the bull sign for a home run, it being the longest hit ball ever seen in Nashville. Williams pitched well until the fifth when he weakened and allowed two runs to come across.

A pitcher's battle was the program for the Columbus fans yesterday when the home team defeated the Charlestonians by the score of 5 to 1. Eldridge blew to a Columbus card off a good pitcher and allowed only four hits, but as luck would have it, they were in connection with two sacrifice flys and he lost his game in that inning. Fox has a good team now and the old Southern leaguer is going good himself.

Jacksonville took yesterday's game from the Savannah boys in easy manner by the score of 5 to 2. Grover for Jacksonville was wild at times but as steady as a clock when men were on base and he easily won from the Indians. Umpire Moran while umpiring behind the bat in the seventh had his lip split open by a deep inshoot thrown by Adams the Savannah pitcher.

Many turn verdicts throughout this country will be represented in the international competition to be held in Denver next month.

Nap Leader

Rivers Is to Fight Ritchie

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 24.—A battle for the lightweight championship between Willie Ritchie, the title holder, and Joe Rivers, for the first choice, but he was under agreement for the date with a local club.

For the date with a local club, strife for the bout followed between the promoters. Ritchie's manager had said his man would fight in San Francisco only, and this left the question of the champion's opponent up in the air until today's announcement.

HEAVIES IN BIG MATCHES

NEW YORK, May 24.—Two heavyweight boxing matches were staged at Madison Square Garden last night. George Rodel, "the Boer," besting "Soldier" Kearns in eight out of ten rounds, and Jim Coffey, "the Dublin Giant," outpointed Jim Flynn, of Pueblo, after a hard session. Coffey exhibited much cleverness, Flynn at times standing still while Coffey rained a shower of lefts and rights to his face and head. Flynn did a lot of rushing and worked mostly for the body, having his opponent backing away during the rounds, but Coffey's cleverness at long distance work was too much for the western man. Coffey weighed 192 pounds and Flynn 191.

In the other bout, Kearns weighed 202 pounds and Rodel 186. Rodel depended on his left hand nearly all through the fight. Kearns knocked Rodel down for a count of five with a right on the jaw in the second round. At the final bell Kearns' face was bruised and swollen and his left eye almost closed.

Rodel Is Winner

NEW YORK, May 24.—George Rodel, the Boer heavyweight fighter, defeated "Soldier" Kearns, of Brooklyn, in a ten-round bout which went the limit here last night.

JORDAN SUSPENDED.

WAYCROSS, Ga., May 24.—Manager Otto Jordan, of the Valdosta Empire league team, was Thursday notified of his indefinite suspension pending an investigation of his conduct on the Brunswick field Wednesday, when he was put out of the game by Umpire Bennett.

COBB'S MARK STANDS SAME

There was no change in Cobb's .508 batting average on Friday, the Detroits being idle and the Georgian not having a chance to either better or hurt his mark. Today his club is in St. Louis, and Cobb will endeavor to give another example of pounding out hits and shove up his average a few points. He has been going unusually well this week, and it would not come as any surprise to see him get two or three hits against the hurlers sent up by the Browns.

Here is his average to date:

SPIT BALL IS HARMFUL

CHICAGO, May 24.—Excessive use of the spitball has injured Ed Walsh's digestion and has thus affected his condition so that he has not yet reached his best form this year, according to Dr. James H. Blair, club physician of the Chicago Americans, in a report made on the pitcher's condition. Walsh is quoted as saying his arm is "far from right," and attributing his success in the game with New York last Sunday to his "headwork."

According to the doctor, saliva needed for Walsh's digestion has been used on the ball, but with care the pitcher may be in his old-time form in a month.

STYMIED.

She bore a flower-bowered hat;
Which I observed with passiveness;
Upon her dainty beau it sat
In nonchalantic massiveness;
I knew not if her eyes were blue,
Nor if her face was passing fair—
The status of her peek-a-boo,
For looking, I saw naught but that
She wore a flower-bowered hat.

She wore a flowered-bowered hat;
Beyond her at the game I pondered;
And hen the speeding ball met bat
I blinked my eyes and sadly wondered;
It may have been a triple play,
A fly to right or eke a double;
It may have won or lost the day,
It may have furnished joy or trouble;
I writhed and peered—and still saw that
She wore a flower-bowered hat.

"Just what," questions L. T. H. by mail, "is meant by the term jinx?" Passing simple. The jinx is what follows a ball club pursued by the fate of defeat merely because the other clubs insist upon making more hits and runs and fewer misplays.

Th Braves and Browns, for two examples, have been jinxed for several years. They could never win because they were rarely able to make as many runs as the opposing clubs. If this isn't tough luck we never saw it in action.

GOLF INSTRUCTION.

An argument has been lately launched over the golfing principle as to whether one should keep one's eye on the ball—or keep one's mind on the ball in making the stroke.

On the other hand there are still two or three duffers left who would be well content to merely keep their clubhead on the ball and let the rest of it drift.

This isn't as simple as it seems. An elderly golfer of some years' experience walked into his club house a few days ago with his soul shining through his eyes.

"I broke my record today," he remarked. "What was your score?" queried a club mate. "One hundred and twenty-two and only 11 whiffs, he answered." "My former record was 120 and 16 whiffs."

Anyone who ever heard a club head pound the air about three inches above the ball needs no introduction to the meaning of a "whiff."

DOOIN'S UNKEMPT PREDICAMENT.

Manager Dooin, of the Phillits, is more than anxious to land the N. L. flag. On the other hand, he sees no reason to emit three cheers when he thinks of meeting the Athletics in the fall.

Out of their last nine games with the Athletics tht Phillies have only lost eight. Meeting the Athletics in a short or long series once they be, come taut is our idea of nothing to look forward to save for the fragrant essence of the loser's end of the purse.

THEN AGAIN.

On the other hand, no club in their own circuit has any huzza coming over Dooin's lack of power.

When a delegation of talent can arise and take four straights from New York—three out of four from Pittsburg and three straights from Chicago the aspect is decidedly non-flukey.

Giants, Pirates and Cubs have ruled the National League for twelve years. But the throne appears to be tottering and the ancient dynasty is fading when the Flag Allies are only good for one victory out of their last eleven starts against outside team.

It may be that the power of the Triple Alliance is to be broken this season. Then again it may not. Which is even further than we dare to go with the dope just at this stage. One thing worth a gamble is that the Phillies of 1913 are not the Reds of 1912. Any club that can point towards Alexander, Seaton, Rixey, Chalmers, Brennen, etc., isn's to be jarred apart in a fortnight, or scuttled, as the Reds were, in one morose series.

As a matter of passing comment the Phillies have enough physical strength to stay where they are. The physchological ingredient is another matter.

Heinieim announces that he is tired of carrying the entire Cub team. Yes, it's a shame that a ball player of Heinie's inherent talent is forced to work on a club with such bushers as Archer, Bresnahan, Bridwell, etc. It's the last word in peonage. Heinie should carry his case to congress and demand an investigation.

BIG BONES ARE PULLED BY TWO TURTLE HURLERS

The Memphis outfit may be a good ball club, though the many boneheaded plays the hurlers pulled while the club was here would kill any chance of referring to Bil Bernhard's athletes as an especially brainy set. Two of the plays pulled by Pitchers Kroh and Parsons were worthy of ball lot boys, being stuff which a college coach would not tolerate.

In Tuesday's game it was Kroh who got away with the daily "bone." There were three runners on the bags and just one down when a rather hot ground-er was hit directly at the pitcher. He didn't do a thing but stop the sizzler and then walk leisurely towards the plate as if he intended placing the ball in the catcher's hand. Meanwhile the runner from third was fast approaching home and the hitter was beating it to first. Doc Seabough, who was catching, finally persuaded the hurler to throw the ball to him, and then Kroh threw badly, allowing one runner to score and the batter to reach first.

Of course the play was for a double and it would have been easy picking. The ball hit to Kroh was so hot that he could have easily thrown it home to force the base runner and then the catcher could have doubled the batter at first.

Notcontent with this bad bone Pitcher Parsons came near getting away with the same kind in Wednesday's fray. Again there were three runners on the bags when a hot one was hit to Parsons. The hurler didn't do a thing but turn and start to throw the ball to first, and only loud calls from his teammates prevented him from tossing out the hitter and allowing the base runner to score from third. As it was, only one man was put out when it should have been an easy two-out affair.

Another bad one in Wednesday's game occurred when Parsons began pitching with Left Fielder Schweitzer on the bench. No one noticed that this athlete was not on the diamond until two balls had been thrown over the plate to the batter. It is customary for the pitcher or at least catcher or field leader to see that all his men are in place before the beginning of an inning.

Coach Jack Moakley's new sprinter Andy Reller is only eighteen years old and is likely to be a factor in the Intercollegiate championship.

FLUKES PLAY BIG PART IN WINNING GRID GAMES

CHICAGO, May 24.—Park Davis, the hughfullerton of football, has been making computations on the element of chance and the effect of flukes in football games. The New York Sun says that some idea of the care exercised in the search for the answer may be gained from the fact that Davis confesses to having used 194 games as a basis for his calculations.

As printed in the latest issue of the Princeton Alumni Weekly, the article is an extended piece of literature, every line of which is of extreme interest to the follower of the autumn game. As a result of his research, Mr. Davis reaches the conclusions: "One out of every eighteen scores in football is the direct result of a fluke; one out of every forty games upon the gridiron is won directly from a fluke. Between evenly matched opponents or in close games one out of every twenty-four games is won upon a fluke.

"One out of every seven scores in football results indirectly from a fluke. One out of every twelve games is won indirectly from a fluke. Sixty-eight per cent of all the scores achieved through a fluke are made by the superior eleven and do not change the result; twenty-eight per cent of such scores are made by the inferior eleven and do not change the result."

Refusal for Players' Plea

CINCINNATI, O., May 24.—August Herrmann, president of the national baseball commission, last night sent a letter to David L. Fultz, president of the Baseball Players' fraternity, replying to a letter from the latter complaining of the transference of baseball players from one club to another, which, Mr. Fultz said, involved a decrease of salary. In his reply, Mr Herrmann pointed out a section of the national baseball commission's agreement, in which it was set forth that the purpose of the organization was to give baseball players every opportunity to rise in their profession and to protect their rights.

He said the transference of a player from one major league club to another carried with it his contract, and that the player could not lose in salary until the contract expired. He also said that a player taken from a minor league by a major league club always received an increase in salary, depending on his value to the major league club. Before a player is released from a major league club to a minor league club, Mr. Herrmann declared, the waiver rule would keep him in the major leagues if any other club desired his services, and that if he was not claimed, his salary was a matter of personal negotiation with the minor league club which secured him.

M'Carty Meets Arthur Pelky

CALVARY, Alberta, May 24.—A great crowd has gathered here to witness the fight of Luther McCarty, world's white heavyweight champion, and Arthur Pelkey, the challenger. The ten-round go will be started at 12:45 p. m., mountain time.

Both men are in excellent condition. McCarty has trained down to 200 pounds, while Pelkey is ten pounds heavier. Ed Smith, of Chicago, will referee the fight.

Dartmouth Again Wins In Intercollegiate Meet

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 24.—The general strength of Dartmouth's team and the breaking of the meet record for the sixteen-pound hammer throw were features of the preliminary events of the New England Intercollegiate Athletic association's twenty-seventh annual championship games. H. P. Bailey, of University of Maine, tossed the hammer 153 feet 8 inches. The former record was 148 feet 8 1-2 inches. Finals will take place tomorrow.

Dartmouth men last night claimed their thirteenth victory in the New England championships was assured by their successes Friday.

Old Veterans In Foot Race

DETROIT, Mich., May 24.—J. L. Smith, of Detroit, 67 years old, champion runner of the grand army of the republic, last night mailed to Lieutenant General Bennett H. Young, Louisville, Ky., commander in chief of the United Confederate veterans, a challenge to be laid before the southern veterans at their encampment at Chattanooga next week. Mr. Smith invites any Confederate soldier to meet him on the cinder path for a race of any distance from a quarter of a mile to ten miles. He stipulates the race is to be run during the G. A. R. encampment next September.

Smith is a veteran of both the Eighth New York heavy artillery and the Tenth New York infantry.

OWEN REPRESENTATIVE PAYS ATLANTA VISIT.

L. E. Gibson, southern representative for R. M. Owen & Co., manufacturers of the Reo motor cars, is now in Atlanta looking over the field here.

Mr. Gibson is well known in the automobile field, and those who are in the automobile industry are of the belief that his visit here means the establishment of an agency in this section. Mr. Gibson did not announce that any agency would be opened in Atlanta, stating that he was looking over the automobile field generally. While here he was entertained by many of his friends.

One More Game To End Race

Emory Teams Have Gone Through Good Season – It Looks Like Sophs

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

OXFORD, Ga., May 24.—One game Monday will relegate the 1913 session of Emory's interclass baseball to history When the Sophomores and Senior battle; the result will in lal probability name the pennant winner.

The Sophomores are now leading the race with six wins, and two losses while the freshmen have finished their schedule with six victories and three the other way. And should the Sophomores secure a victory out of the Seniors they will be the undisputed champions.

Consistent dope has it that the Sophs will secure a win from the Seniors, as they have trounced them two out of two, and the Freshmen took two out of three. The Sophs have been trained up to their stride by Coach Stipe, while the Seniors seem to be playing just for the schedule's sake.

When the season is concluded the coaches of the four teams will select thirteen men who played in a majority of games this season and be entitled to wear an E. The picks are never foregone conclusions and this year's select should prove a hard proposition.

The season has been successful this year, the class of ball being shown ranking way above previous years. The pitchers were extra good and all worked well through the season.

McLaughlin Better At Smashing Game

NEW YORK, May 24.—Maurice E. McLoughlin, the lawn tennis champion, arrived here Friday from California and made haste to get into action on the courts of the West Side club, where he will be one of the American team to meet the Australians in the international matches for the Davis cup.

McLoughlin paired with Harold H. Hackett, former national champion, in doubles, and the two scored two sets against R. D. Little, also of the American team, and Haggett, the English professional, at the severity and certainty of his service and at smashing and volleying, McLoughlin surpassed all the others. McLoughlin will practice in this city until the Davis cup matches in June.

The construction of the new stadium by Yale university at New Haven will be a fitting climax to nearly $1,000,000 worth of new buildings for Yale athletics in the past six years.

SWALLOWS ACID SO HER HUSBAND WILL BE HAPPY

But Mrs. Janie Hazelbridge May Live–Ambulance Stopped by Mud

Leaving a note to her husband saying that she was killing herself that he might be happy, Mrs. Janie Hazelbridge, of 99 Brighton street, swallowed the contents of a bottle of carbolic acid about 9 o'clock Saturday morning, and was taken to Grady hospital a short while later in a critical condition.

Next door to the Hazelbridge home on Brighton street is the residence of Mrs. Jay Coles. Mrs. Coles was sitting in the front room of her home Saturday morning when the door was burst open and Mrs. Hazelbridge staggered in.

"I have taken carbolic acid and am going to die!" she gasped, and fell to the floor.

Mrs. Coles telephoned to the police and to the Grady hospital. The ambulance could approach no nearer the house than the corner of Marietta and Howell streets, nearly a mile away, on account of a sea of mud. Mrs. Hazelbridge was helped into a buggy, and driven to where the ambulance was waiting.

She was unconscious at the hospital, but physicians stated that she had a fair chance for recovery.

Officer Bailey, who answered the police call, found the note lying in the front room of the Hazelbridge home, with the empty poison bottle nearby. The note evidently had been written after the acid was taken.

"Farewell, John," it read. "I have taken carbolic acid to kill myself so you will be happy. O God, what I suffer!—One that loved you."

Mrs. Hazelbridge's husband, John Hazelbridge, is employed at the Exposition Cotton mills. She is about twenty-five years of age. Neighbors say that domestic unhappiness probably was the cause of the attempt.

DR. JAMES W. LEE WAS IN ATLANTA SATURDAY

Former Atlanta Minister Goes to Macon to Deliver Sermon at Wesleyan

Rev. Dr. James Wideman Lee, pastor of St. John's Methodist Episcopal church of St. Louis, formerly pastor of Trinity Methodist and Park street Methodist churches of Atlanta, was in the city Saturday on his way to Macon, Ga., where he delivers the commencement sermon Sunday morning at Wesleyan college.

Dr. Lee arrived here Friday night, he passes through this city Sunday night on his return to St. Louis, which he reaches Tuesday.

At the recent Baptist convention in St. Louis were two Atlanta ministers, John E. White and Dr. John D. Purser, both of whom occupied Dr. Lee's pulpit last Sunday. Dr. White spoke at the morning service and Dr. Purser at the night service. Both of them made a highly favorable impression on his congregation, says Dr. Lee. Dr. Lee is now in his second term at St. John's church. While in Atlanta he served two terms for each of the churches here, the Trinity church and the Park street church. For thirty years he has been alternating between churches in Atlanta and St. Louis, while at the same time he has written twelve books, all of which have had a remarkable success. His latest work, "The Religion of Science," is in its third edition.

WAGNER CENTENARY TO BE CELEBRATED SUNDAY

Organ to Play Big Part in Auditorium Program Honoring Composer

The centenary of the birth of Richard Wagner will be celebrated by Atlantic music lovers Sunday afternoon at the Auditorium-Armory, where a Wagnerian concert will be rendered on the great organ by Dr. Percy J. Starnes under the auspices of the Atlanta Music Festival association.

This concert, being one of the regular Sunday afternoon series, will be free and the general public is invited cordially to be present.

It will contain some of the most beautiful and melodious of the Wagner music. Those familiar with the opening The concert will open with the overture to Rienzi. There will be a preponderance of selections from Tannhauser, including the "Evening Star" and the "Grand March."

The concert will be further remarkable for the presentation by Dr. Starnes of a composition of his own, a "Grand Chorus Triumphale," which displays in a wonderful way the tremendous power of the organ.

The concert will begin promptly at 3:30 o'clock. The doors will be opened an hour in advance, and a very large attendance is expected.

Atlanta is one of the few cities in the south which will celebrate the Wagner Centenary, indeed so far as the music festival association can ascertain, it is the only city in this part of the country. In New York, Philadelphia, Cincinnati and other northern musical centers, however, it is being made the occasion for many notable concerts.

MRS. ADA E. CAMPBELL DIES IN NEW MEXICO

Mrs. Ada E. Campbell, who for years lived in Atlanta, died April 26 in Roswell, New Mexico, where she was visiting her daughter, Mrs. Jesse Wilson.

Mrs. Campbell was born in Suggsville, Alabama, June 3, 1853. She was a woman of unusual force of character and intellectual attainment. She kept in touch with the great questions of the day, both in church and state. BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bedwetting. There is a constitutional cause for the trouble. Dr. Miles' Nervine, Bed Wetting Tablets, will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and children troubled with urine difficulties by day or night. (Advt.)

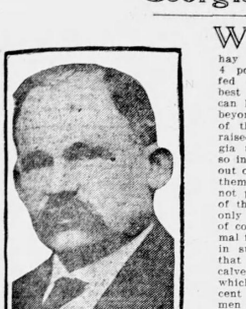
The Dairy Industry In Georgia



WITH ensilage, sufficient to feed twenty to thirty pounds per day, alfalfa hay 10 to 15 pounds and 2 to 4 pounds of cotton seed meal fed additionally gives the best and cheapest food any one can have. And, as it is proven beyond all doubt that 6 to 10 tons of the best alfalfa hay can be raised per acre anywhere in Georgia this enables anyone who is so inclined at all to make money out of the dairy business to give them an opportunity that does not present itself in many parts of the country. And it does not only keep the cows in the best of condition and up to their normal flow of milk, but keeps them in such a high state of health that it is no trouble to raise the calves that are produced by them which is undoubtedly a big per cent of profit that many dairymen are now losing. With pure, wholesome milk such as can be produced by feeding nature's feed, the milk is not only more wholesome for calves but for babies and people as well. One of the main things now that a dairyman should do to make an extra per cent of profit that he is not now getting is to raise his own calves and increase the producing capacity of each cow. You cannot buy these and must raise them, and by the use of good bulls that you know positively what their mothers have done it only takes a few years for a man to increase the producing capacity of his cows from one-half to one and one-half gallons of milk each day with the same care, feed and attention that you would get from ordinary picked-up cattle such as nearly all dairymen are using. With the increased population and growing so rapidly as it is the demand is getting greater every day and as there are so few people who will do so, and then have no excuse for not making a larger per cent of money on the investment in the dairy business in the south than probably any other one thing in the world.

With the great drawbacks most people have had in the south who wish to do this work, for the lack of capital there are but few who are able to even have a decent barn to house their cows in and not suffi. cient money to buy even a good bull to put at the head of their herd, and nothing like the class of cows that are capable of making a big per cent of profit are but few people able to own. But, those who are willing to start in a small way and raise their own feed soon find themselves with money and making money so fast until there are some big improvement seen in this respect all through the south around over Georgia now. It is surprising to see what a big difference has come about in the past few years, largely due to the educational work done by the railroads and Professor Hart. There is a big field for education in this line and no money can be spent for Georgia that will bring about greater returns so quickly as to build up our dairy industry. At least fifty men should be in the field all the time employed by the state and government to help do this work and show people how to grow alfalfa, ensilage, breed up their herds, erect neat and convenient barns and silos and be properly instructed how to produce good milk and good cattle to produce this milk from. There is a world of work that could be done in this respect that would soon add thousands of dollars to the wealth of our country. Anyne in traveling over the country can soon tell when they strike a farm with a herd of dairy cows kept on it. The difference in the fertility of the land is certainly noticeable, and with the splendid bermuda, orchard grass, crimson clover, lespedeza and alfalfa, with some encouragement and education on these lines done in Georgia there would be hundreds of families today rich and prosperous made through the dairy industry if we could ever get the people once started properly in this work. Above all things, the biggest thing that would lead to success in this line of work in Georgia would be the establishment of a wholesale receiving depot in the large cities and towns of any size where the farmers could get a fair price for their products. It would also enable the men handling these milk depots to do a large business at a small expense and they could make a much larger per cent of profit than is now being made by many of the small men as the operating expenses could be reduced and a big per cent of profit saved in this one respect.

Yours very truly,

Important developments in the Walker street project are expected to be announced shortly, and still another transaction is pending in the territory lying between the Southern and A. B. and A. railroads.

GOV. COLE BLEASE TALKS ABOUT COL. TOM FELDER

Governor of South Carolina Makes Sarcastic Remarks on Dictograph Episode

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

COLUMBIA, S. C., May 24.—Governor Blease this morning said:

"I do not see that it is necessary for me to give out any interview or to have anything to say. It is not inside of this state, and I do not suppose anybody that knows Tom Felder would be surprised if he is guilty or if this is a scheme worked up by him to get a little cheap notoriety and advertisement.

"However, I presume that the members of the legislature will be immediately furnish certificates of character for their darling Tommy and show that he is above suspicion and a gentleman of the highest character, with unblemished reputation as a man and attorney; and if a court of Georgia should order his arrest, that General Anderson will forthwith call out the militia and have Felder released, as General Anderson, his former partner and lifelong friend, knows of his character and reputation, and will not for a moment allow his Tommy to be interfered with.

"I am satisfied that poor little misled Joe Brown has had his parlor clerk in readiness ready fixing up a release for his innocent darling in case of any conviction.

"And as a matter of course, the gutter snipes who went over to Augusta from South Carolina will hurry off after their services to go on sweet Tommy's bond, and also to appear in the courts along with "Seaboard Bill," and his friend J. F. Lyon, who have heretofore been his bosom friends in his defense; all save Chairman Carlisle, who I suppose is too busy 'moseying' to leave his own state just now.

"Consequently, all will be well. Birds of a feather flock together and, of course, if the lead buzzard rings his bell the congregation will assemble."

HE WAS DICTOGRAPHED TOO

MAYOR JAMES G. WOODWARD.

The pictures show three attractive views of the lovely garden at the rear of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Willet's home on Peachtree road. The formal plan of the flower beds has been admirably carried out, and since the early spring the yard has been filled with a wealth of brilliant blossoms set about with evergreens and strips of velvety sward.

Moral Medal Given To G. M. A. Cadets By Atlanta Citizen

The career thus far of George Towns, an eighteen-year-old boy who is a student at the Georgia Military academy, has resulted in the establishment of a permanent medal at that school to be awarded to the cadet having the best moral standard of excellence.

The establishment of the medal came out of an article appearing in The Journal of Saturday, May 3, in which it was stated that young Towns had won a prize for his work in the Sunday school.

A local real estate man, who asks that his name be withheld, saw the story and thought it somewhat remarkable that young Towns had shown of his life in Cuba, should have attained such a record. He had the boy's past life looked into somewhat, and found that he was of the highest moral character.

He found that Towns, born of American parents, had lived in the little town of Hulguin, Cuba, four miles from any church, yet had become remarkably well versed in the Bible, catechoddle, and had developed a fine character.

This Atlanta citizen, therefore, presented Towns with the medal. Moreover, the presentation of the medal will be an annual affair. It will be known as the Towns medal in honor of its first winner, and will be given every year to the G. M. A. cadet who has the highest moral character.

Will Decline All Cases Presented on Other Than Appointed Days

Governor Joseph M. Brown Saturday morning made the following statement in regard to applications for executive clemency:

"In view of the fact that parties interested in securing action on applications for executive clemency are insisting upon presenting these cases daily, thereby depriving the law-abiding people of this state of the attention which their affairs merit, I am compelled to state that I shall decline, without argument, all cases which are brought into the executive office on days other than those appointed for consideration of the same. Those days, it has been stated repeatedly, are the last Thursday and Friday of each month.

"But, inasmuch as the legislature will be in session on the last Thursday and Friday in June, I will give attention to clemency cases on June 19 and 20. On no other days in June will I set aside the business of law-abiding citizens for the purpose of considering applications for executive clemency to persons convicted of violating the laws."

FARMERS MADE HAPPY BY RECENT SHOWERS

According to Commissioner of Agriculture, Crops Have Improved Wonderfully

Rain, which has fallen in large and satisfying quantities in the greater part of the state, has made the outlook for the farmer brighter than it has been for some time, according to Commissioner of Agriculture J. J. Conner. The outlook now is quite optimistic for a good cotton, corn and hay crop.

There are a few dry spots which are suffering still from want of rain, notably in southwest Georgia in the counties of Lee, Worth and Sumter. But showers that count have fallen in the large majority of the counties, and almost every growing thing in field and garden has become greener.

If the weather conditions continue as good, there is every reason to expect a good average cotton crop. This crop will not be a bumper crop, according to the present indications, but for this very reason the price will be higher.

In a report made by Commissioner of Agriculture Conner, recent rains have been plentiful in nearly all Georgia, which have been most timely for seed germination.

According to reports received by the commissioner, portions of south Georgia still are wanting rain, but the weather indicated Friday in these parts is that state that rain was to be expected before the end of the week, as the skies were overcast and there was every indication for showers or a good rainfall.

The oat crop, according to the reports, is even larger than ever before, and is very promising.

An abundance of rainfall all over the state is predicted by Commissioner Conner.

U. S. NOT READY YET TO RECOGNIZE MEXICO

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 24.—President Wilson made it clear today that the United States government had reached no decision as to recognizing the Huerta government in Mexico. He indicated that when recognition is extended it will be as a result of a general adjustment of conditions in Mexico.

It had been reported that with the negotiations of a loan by Mexico prospects for recognition would be improved. White House officials declined to say whether the rehabilitation of Mexican financial affairs would hasten recognition. The impression gained at the White House was that the Washington government would await the outcome of the presidential elections in Mexico.

Men Welcome Mother's Friend

It is just as important that men should know of progressive methods in advance of motherhood. The suffering incident to child-bearing can be easily avoided by having at hand a bottle of Mother's Friend.

This is a penetrating external application that relieves all tension upon the muscles and enables them to expand without painful strain upon the ligaments. Thus there is avoided nervous spells; the tendency to nausea or morning sickness is counteracted, and a bright, happy disposition is preserved that reflects wonderfully upon the character and temperament of the little one soon to come. You can obtain a bottle of "Mother's Friend" at any drug store at $1.00. It preserves the mother's health, enables her to make a complete recovery, and thus with renewed strength she will eagerly devote herself to the care and attention which mean so much to the welfare of the child. Write to the Bradfield Regulator Co., 229 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their valuable and instructive book of guidance for expectant mothers.

Saving and Investing

Make Out the Family Budget!

BY JOHN M. OSKISON

Wouldn't the average family's income go farther and be spent to better advantage and with less strain if—

Both adult members of the home would sit down calmly and figure out just what necessary expenses must be met in the next twelve months;

An inquiry were undertaken into the comparative cost of the present way of living and some other way which might be possible if there were a readjustment of income and outlay—

The husband would tell his wife exactly as much as he knows himself as to his average income, which is earnings—whether he be working for wages, or salary, or engaged in a business in which profits are variable—and the two would agree to keep within that amount in their spending;

Upon the woman was placed the fullest measure of responsibility for the handling of all of the income which goes toward the support of the home, and the care and clothing of the children?

Those who follow this plan with persistence and good humor are agreed that the answer is "Yes."

Well, what then? I believe that the first step is to call a meeting of the adult associates of the family—father, mother, and those children still at home who have reached years of discretion—and form a business partnership to supplement that sentimental partnership which is the basis of home Credit every member with his earning power, fix upon the reasonable needs of every member and debit that member in a systematic way with all his expenditures.

If you don't understand exactly what the budget idea is, look it up in the dictionary and the encyclopedia and read something about how the needs of your city's government are figured out in advance. There is no better way to fix in the minds of everybody the unalterable fact that the average family's income is limited and should be spent with discretion.

KAISER'S DAUGHTER WEDS PRINCE OF CUMBERLAND

Princess Victoria Luise Becomes Wife of Prince Ernest August

(By Associated Press.)

BERLIN, May 24.—Princess Victoria Luise of Prussia, only daughter of the German emperor, was married to Prince Ernest August of Cumberland with the rites of the Lutheran church at 5 o'clock this evening.

The ceremony, which took place in the royal chapel of the imperial castle, seals the reconciliation between the dethroned house of Hanover and the house of Hohenzollern.

The presence of three of the most powerful sovereigns of Europe—the German emperor, the Russian emperor and the British king-emperor—on terms of intimate friendship made the event a demonstration of international peace.

The civil ceremony was performed half an hour earlier in the great electors' hall, a small room in the most ancient part of the castle. It was attended by only the immediate families of the bride and bridegroom.

A state banquet is to be given at the castle this evening, followed by the historic "torch dance" and the distribution to the guests of souvenir "favors." These are in the form of silk ribbons, bearing the bride's initials and the date in gold letters, which modern delicacy has substituted for pieces of the bride's garter, formerly cut up and distributed by the princes of the royal family on the points of their swords.

The bridal couple will leave immediately afterward for the emperor's hunting seat at Hubertusstock, north of Berlin, where they will pass the first week of their honeymoon, then going for a fortnight to the Duke of Cumberland's hunting castle near Gmunden.

The short formal civil marriage of Princess Victoria Louise and Prince Ernest August, of Cumberland, was completed at exactly half past four this afternoon.

In the meantime the guests who were to attend the religious service had assembled in the Octagonal chapel at the other end of the castle. The room was richly decorated with flowers.

Among the guests were the United States Ambassador, Hon. G. A. Leishman and his wife and daughter; Jose C. Grew, secretary of the American embassy and his wife; Captain Albert Niblack, American attache; Miss Yvette Borup, of New York, who was a school mate of the bride at the Empress Augusta institute, and a dozen excited school girls, whom the young princess insisted on inviting at the last moment in return for a personally embroidered present.

A choir of men and boys was stationed in the high gallery encircling the chapel, where they sang hymns.

At the conclusion of the civil ceremony the bridal procession was marshalled into line by Count August Zu Eulenburg, grand marshall of the imperial court, and then proceeded the entire length of the castle through a long series of state apartments to the royal chapel.

It was led by the bridal couple, the Princess' train being born by four of her girl friends. Prince Ernest August, of Cumberland, was garbed in Prussian hussar uniform.

After them came Emperor William with the Duchess of Cumberland. Then followed in order the Duke of Cumberland, with the German empress, the Emperor Nicholas, of Russia, with Queen Mary of England, King George, of England with Crown Princesses Cecilie, the Emperor William's sons with their consorts and fifty or more other princes and princesses of the royal blood.

Dr. Ernest Dryander, grand chaplain of the court, who had baptized Princess Victoria Louis and prepared her for her confirmation, performed the ceremony, which was the simple Lutheran rite. He then delivered the customary address of advice and admonition to the newly married couple.

As the rings were exchanged before the altar a battery of artillery stationed outside the castle fired a royal salute.

Then the prince and princess with Emperor William and Empress Augusta Victoria and the duke and duchess of Cumberland returned to the white hall of the castle, where they received the congratulations of the guests while seated beneath a canopy at small tables.

Th guests filed past them making profound bows and curtsies.

MERCHANTS WILL PARADE ON FIRST CLOSING DAY

Inauguration of Wednesday Half-Holidays Will Be Marked by Big Procession

To inaugurate fittingly the commencement of the half-holiday for retail merchants of Atlanta every Wednesday during the months of July and August, a parade will be held here on Wednesday, June 4, one of the biggest and most elaborate affairs which has ever been staged in this city.

The parade is the outcome of a scheme which was launched somewhat over a year ago by Harry Schleisinger when he entertained a number of retail merchants at luncheon. Mr. Schlesinger broached the subject of a half-holiday in the middle of the week, and since then has been working so hard that the signatures of over 300 retail merchants have been secured, all of whom agree to close their stores at 1:30 on Wednesdays during the hot summer months.

The fact that over 10,000 merchants and their sales-people are directly interested in the movement will make the parade one of the most interesting that had ever been witnessed in Atlanta. It will be over two miles in length, and will include all the jobbers, commission merchants, meat packers, retail grocers and market men in town.

The grand marshals of the day will be Harry L. Schlesinger and Nym McCullough. The parade will form at 1:30 at the state capitol, will march down Mitchell street to Whitehall, out Whitehall to the corner of Peachtree street and North avenue, down North avenue to West Peachtree, back up West Peachtree to Five Points, where it will disperse.

After the parade the marchers will be entertained at various amusements gotten up by the entertainment committee.

At Taft hall on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock there will be given a smoker for the retail grocers and fresh meat men, their clerks and other employes; also all jobbers, packers, produce men and their salesmen and others interested in the Wednesday afternoon closing movement now on foot.

Speakers of the evening will be R. A. Broyles, E. L. Adams, W. O. Stamps, John M. McCullough, Harry L. Schlesinger.

COLUMBUS, Ga., May 24.—The Georgia-Florida division of the United Commercial Travelers at its final session Friday elected the following officers:

R. B. Cole, Jacksonville, past grand counselor; E. D. Weir, Athens, grand counselor; J. M. Kelly, Tampa, grand junior counselor; R. L. Wallis, Atlanta, grand secretary; A. L. Brook, Atlanta, grand treasurer; W. L. Stern, Savannah, grand conductor; A. J. Heinberg, Pensacola, grand judge; J. M. Giddens, Columbus, grand sentinel.

The following executive committeemen were elected for a term of two years: G. P. Byrd, of Atlanta, and J. W. Bates, of Macon. T. B. Lewis, of Atlanta, and D. K. Ugleman, of Pensacola, were named as representatives to the supreme council.

Pensacola, Fla., was selected as the next meeting place, over Gainesville, Ga., the only other contestant for the place. Jacksonville, Fla., was expected to ask for the next convention, but did not. The date for the meeting was not fixed.

The grand council adopted a resolution indorsing the bill now before congress introduced by Congressman Bartlett, of Georgia, to give to the people 1-cent letter postage. The grand council, by vote, became a member of the "National One-Cent Postage association."

A resolution was also adopted indorsing the bill in congress introduced by Senator Burton, providing for changing the date for presidential and congressional elections from the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, to the first Monday in November. The traveling men assert that 500,000 commercial travelers would be more or less affected by such a change; that it would make it easier for this number to vote in these elections.

A committee, of which W. B. Webb, of Atlanta, is chairman, was appointed to draft an amendment to the present hotel law in Georgia providing for the creation of a state hotel inspector.
